PREPARES FOR NAVY TO TAKE OVER CONTROL

Would Operate Kearny Ways On 'Receivership' Basis During Dispute.

SEE ACTION NEXT WEEK

Stoppage Halts Construction On $450,000,000 Worth Of Naval Vessels.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Authoritative defense officials disclosed today that the government is prepared to take over the strike-bound Kearny, N. J., shipyards of the Federal Shipbuilding company next week unless work is resumed without delay.

The strike of 16,000 members of the industrial union of Marine and Shipbuilding workers (CIO) has stopped all work at the plant, which holds contracts for $450,000,000 worth of naval and merchant vessels.

Well-informed officials predicted that the yards would be under complete government supervision before the end of next week unless the company accepts the national mediation board's recommendation for a "maintenance of union membership" clause in a new contract—the sole issue still in dispute.

Their prediction was based on the assumption that the union would not back down on its demand for the clause. The union indicated its determination to hold out last night by calling upon the government to take over the plant immediately.

The membership maintenance clause provides that employes who are now union members or "hereafter voluntarily" become members "shall as a condition of continued employment maintain membership in the union in good standing."

One plan now under discussion, it was said, would place the navy in complete control with a high naval officer in charge on a "receivership" basis When the dispute is settled, the plant would be returned to the company. Ma-

Warns Against Use Of Firearms By Minors In County

With 11-year-old Joann Lehnhart, Oak street road, recovering in General hospital from a bullet wound in her head inflicted by a 14-year-old boy, Prosecutor Harold Lutz warned today that county officials are going to clamp down on the use of firearms by minors under 17.

Citing a state law which prohibits the sale or gift of any guns, air rifles, or ammunition to minors, the prosecutor asserted: "We are going to make an example of the next case that comes to the attention of the sheriff or police."

The statutes, he pointed out, provide for fines up to $100 and a 30-day jail sentence for adults who sell or give guns and ammunition to boys under 17. The law also applies to air rifles, he said.

Investigation of the shooting of the Lehnhart girl Thursday afternoon near the county children's home revealed that the girl was injured by the last of 63 bullets fired during the afternoon by Jack Davis, 14, and his cousin, Richard Wilson, 15. The shot that penetrated the girl's head was fired by Davis.

He told Probate Judge Stu[illegible] H. Cramer and Prosecutor Lutz that he was using his older brother's rifle without permission when he accidentally shot the child.

Knudsen Checks Plane Engines

William Knudsen (tallest), O. P. M. director, is seen inspecting the Curtiss Wright Engine company at Paterson, N. J., during his tour of eastern aircraft manufacturers. Knudsen is urging the engine makers to increase production to keep up with the new production figures being set by the plane builders.

Ah! Shower-Cooled Weekend's on Way For City, Folks

A cooler week-end was promised Mansfielders today by the weatherman who predicts generally fair and slightly lower temperatures for this area tonight and still cooler for tomorrow.

Mansfielders welcomed the prediction as a breather from yesterday's above-90 temperature which bathed the city in humidity.

Mansfield was a "hot spot" yesterday with the mercury climbing to 94 degrees. Low for the early morning today was 61 degrees. The average for the past 24 hours was 77.5 degrees, four higher than the 16-year average. The thermometer reached 82 shortly before noon today.

The heat, expected to drag on until Tuesday, got off to a flying start yesterday as thermometers climbed above 90 degrees in most sections and hit a high of 101.1 degrees at Cincinnati's airport.

READY TO FIGHT

Thai Minister Says Nation Won't Give Up Liberty.

BANGKOK, Thailand—(Delayed)—(AP)—Luang Vichitar Vadakarn, Thai minister without portfolio and chairman of the Thailand Broadcasting commission, said today the "Thai people will fight to the end against any aggressor and safeguard their national independence."

The Thai government, adhering to the principles of democracy, will enforce no censorship on incoming news from various foreign sources, he said in an interview published by the Japanese-owned Thai language newspaper Khaoparb.

Residents of the capital have for the past 48 hours watched developments involving economic or military moves by the United States, Great Britain, Japan, China and The Netherlands East Indies but aside from Vadakarn's interview there was no official statement on the situation.

MAN SERIOUSLY HURT IN CRASH

Three Others Injured as Autos Figure In Triple Accidents In Mansfield Area.

One motorist is in serious condition at General hospital today and three others are injured as a result of three accidents which marked the start of the week-end in the Mansfield area last night.

Byron L. Geary, 26, of Sullivan, suffered fractured left ribs and possible internal injuries in a crash near West Salem Marshall McAdoo of Sullivan, was also injured when the auto in which he was riding with Geary and James D. McDowell, 25, of West Salem, the driver, left U. S. route 42, two miles and a half northeast of Mansfield and turned over early this morning.

Geary's physician said his life was in danger as a result of the injuries. He was brought to General hospital

McAdoo was treated for brush burns at the hospital and released. State highway patrolmen, who reported the accident, said no charges had been filed.

In another accident last night Ann Stulpin, 18, of 301 Glessner avenue, and Francis Joefost, 18, of Elizabeth, Pa., received cuts on their faces when two cars met head-on three miles south of Mansfield on State Route 13.

Francis T. Stulpin, 19, also of 301 Glessner avenue, was the driver of one car and Alma Rinehart, 39, of Ashland R. D. 2, was the driver of the other.

An automobile driven and owned by George Karkalik of 747 Bowman street, Mansfield, was badly damaged when it hit a tree last night on Harker street, between Mulberry and Daisy streets Karkalik was arrested by city police on charges of intoxication.

In Ashland, two persons escaped injury by leaping from their automobile when it stalled in the path of an on-coming Erie railroad train at the Cottage street crossing, last night. They were Rev. and Mrs. W. R. Allen. Their car was demolished.

Gasoline Curfew's Getting Close, But It's Not Here Yet

The possibility that Mansfield motorists would soon be asked to tighten their gasoline belts and observe fuel curfews like those effective in the eastern states moved closer today.

Eighty-seven gasoline dealers in metropolitan Cleveland, members of the Sohio Retailers' association, went on record today as urging Secretary of Interior Harold Ickes to extend to Cleveland his appeal to close service stations from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m.

The Mansfield district Sohio office reported that no movement to curtail local gas use had been started as yet. John Coleman, district manager, could not be reached. Employes of the Sohio office said he would be out of town until Monday, but that local dealers were remaining open during their regular hours.

Eastern states have been observing the sunset to sunrise curfew for a week now in an effort to free gasoline supplies for national defense needs. In addition to the need for conserving the fuel supply itself, the lack of railroad tank cars and tankers, which usually carry gasoline through the New York state barge canal, has tightened up on fuel supplies.

The tankers are being used by the government to transport huge supplies of gasoline and oil needed for U. S. army and navy forces.

John W. Lees, president of the Cleveland association, said the organization, made up of independent dealers who handle Standard Oil products, had given careful consideration to the plan and believed it to be a good idea for the Cleveland area.

STATE AGENTS, POLICE ARREST NINE IN RAIDS

Six Fined Today In Municipal Court For Selling Liquor Without Permits.

3 CASES CONTINUED

State Board Orders Gourmet Inn Proprietors to Appear On Violation Count.

In a series of rapid-fire raids lasting only ten minutes, State liquor department agents and Mansfield police swooped down on six Mansfield drinking places early today and arrested eight persons on charges of selling liquor without permits. Another was arrested for allegedly illegally selling liquor, and resisting an officer.

Arrested in the series of raids between 12:20 and 12:30 a. m. today on charges of selling liquor without a permit were: Robert Brown, 97 East Sixth street; Mike George, 122½ North Main street; Nick Boskov, 293 North Main street; Tom Georgeoff, 264 North Main street; Sylvester A. Ford and William Stacey, 285 North Diamond street, and Car Robinson and Edna Warren, 299 North Diamond street.

Also arrested was Joe Shaffer, 59 North Franklin avenue, who was charged with operating a place where illegal liquor is sold, selling liquor illegally, and resisting an officer.

Agents said that Shaffer tried to resist arrest after they had purchased a bottle of liquor at his place. His case was continued until October 13 today in Municipal court and Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch placed him on a total of $3,000 bond, $1,000 for each offense.

The other eight persons arrested in the raids were also arraigned in Municipal court today. The cases of Robert Brown and Carl Robinson were continued, Brown being released on a $500 bond and Robinson on $2,000 bond.

Four of the remaining six persons pleaded guilty and were fined while the other two were also fined after pleading not guilty.

Pleading not guilty were Georgoff, who was fined $100 and costs

SHIP ANCHORED

Report Presidential Yacht Stands By In Fog.

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The presidential yacht Potomac was anchored in fog today and everything was quiet aboard it, according to a navy dispatch from the vessel.

"Ship anchored in fog," the message said. "Prospects for fishing appear very poor today. Everything quiet on board. No especial news."

As was true with some of the previous messages from the Potomac, which is cruising in the North Atlantic, the bulletin did not specifically say that Mr. Roosevelt was aboard.

Nor did it refer to the persistent rumors of a Roosevelt-Churchill conference, unless the phrase "no especial news" might be construed as bearing on those rumors.

STRIKE AVERTED

Agreement Reached At Armour Plant Supplying Army.

WASHINGTON—(INS)—The national defense mediation board today announced that an agreement had been reached in the threatened CIO strike at the Armour and Co., plant in Chicago, which supplies about one-third of the meat, eggs, and butter used by the U. S. army.

Details of the settlement were not disclosed subject to ratification by the 14,000 workers of the plant at a mass meeting, which probably will be held some time during the week-end.

Where East Front Battle Rages

Key points on the far-flung Eastern Front are shown on this map. Violent battles rage in Estonia (1) and on the Karelian Isthmus (2), gateway from Finland to Leningrad. Germany claimed capture of the strategic city of Smolensk, but a bitter battle still rages in that area (3), while farther south the Nazi forces threaten Kiev (4), capital of the Ukraine. The Germans today claimed the capture of Korosten, important rail junction, northwest of Kiev.

Committee Seeks Revision Of House-Passed Tax Bill

Senator George Proposes to Broaden Income Tax Base, Increase Surtax Bracket.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Sen. George (D., Ga.), chairman of the senate finance committee, predicted today that it will comply with Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau's request to increase the yield of the house-passed tax bill to at least $3,500,000,000

George said that although a general program to form the basis for the proposed increase is yet to be worked out it will probably be brought about through broadening the income tax base, increasing the surtax bracket and revising or readjusting other levies.

"We will go up to $3,500,000,000 and perhaps a little bit beyond that figure if it can be done while still preserving the economic system," George said

"I think," he added, "that some program will be worked out that will carry out in principle at least most of the recommendations of the secretary of the treasury, although there will probably be some differences of opinion."

George said, however, that he does not favor the treasury recommendations to increase the 5 per cent surtax bracket approved by the house to 11 per cent, and predicted that it will meet strong opposition in the committee.

"I think that the increase in the surtax bracket to 11 per cent would be exceedingly high," George said, "and it seems ques-

Government Prohibits Production Of White Sidewall Tires.

WASHINGTON (AP) The manufacture of white sidewall automobile tires was prohibited by the office of production management today, effective at midnight Aug. 23.

E. R. Stettinius, jr., defense director of priorities, said that cessation would save more than 6,000 tons of crude rubber a year. It takes about two pounds more crude rubber to make a white sidewall tire than to make an ordinary black one.

MORE BEER

Ohio Brewers Increase Sales By 188,000 Barrels.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio brewers in the first six months of 1941 sold 1,782,695 barrels of beer—1,258,358 in Ohio and 524,337 outside the state—or 118,640 more than they sold during the corresponding period of 1940, the state tax department reported today.

Brewers outside Ohio sold 381,691 barrels of beer in Ohio during the first half of this year, records show.

SPEAKS TODAY

Lindbergh to Address Meeting In Cleveland Auditorium.

CLEVELAND — (UP) — Colonel and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh visited Ohio's first city today in their crusade to keep America out of war.

The "Lone Eagle" of former years will take the platform of Cleveland's public hall tonight to express his opposition to the foreign policies of President Roosevelt. His subject will be: "Government by representation or by subterfuge."

The meeting, sponsored by the local chapter of the America First committee, will begin at 8 p. m. Lindbergh's talk will be broadcast by the NBC red network starting at 9:30 p. m.

NAZIS OPERATE 'MERCY' PLANES

Report Use of Transports for Removal of Wounded Soldiers.

NEW YORK—(AP) The Berlin radio said today that one squadron alone of Germany's big Junkers transport planes had brought 280,000 wounded German soldiers back from the central sector of the eastern front, NBC reported.

Never before, said the broadcast heard here, has the German supply stream been subjected to such a strain as in the campaign against Soviet Russia.

The transport planes, it said, took more than 2,500,000 kilos—2,750 tons—of war material to the front on outgoing flights and flew the wounded to the rear for medical care on the return trip.

Report Drive To South Hits Pace of Blitz

Moscow Denies Major Gains By Germans But Admits Heavy Fighting; RAF And Red Planes Open Joint Air Attack on Germany.

(By United Press)

The Nazi high command claimed today that a shattering defeat has been inflicted upon Soviet armies southeast of Smolensk and that Korosten, 85 miles northwest of Kiev, has been captured while, for the second successive night, the British and Russian air forces combined to blast Berlin, the Kiel naval base and other strategic centers of the Reich.

A British spokesman warned that the German victory reports should be taken with a grain of salt but admitted that indications are the new Nazi blitz offensive in the Ukraine still is making headway. Soviet reports admitted no significant change in the fight front.

A succession of communiques emanated from Adolf Hitler's headquarters on the eastern front, reporting great new successes in the Ukraine and in the Smolensk sector. They said the Germans were advancing at blitzkrieg pace.

One communique said that Korosten, important rail junction northwest of Kiev and southeast of the Pripet marshes where the Russians for days have reported heavy fighting, has fallen to Nazi troops.

The capture followed within 12 hours a special Nazi communique asserting that 25 Russian divisions, comprising the 6th, 12th and part of the 18th Russian armies had been smashed in a big encirclement engagement on an unspecified sector of the Ukraine front.

In smashing the 25 divisions, the Germans claimed the capture of 103,000 men. The killing or wounding of 200,000 and the dispersal of the remaining 122,000 troops over a wide area.

In another special communique issued this morning the Nazi high command claimed that a Soviet force 60 miles southeast of Smolensk had been destroyed with the capture of 38,000 prisoners, 250 tanks and 359 guns.

Nazi spokesmen insisted that the fall of Kiev and Odessa can be expected soon if the present pace of the German drive is maintained and indicated that Russian ability to defend the rich agricultural and industrial area of the Ukraine is being crushed systematically.

Against these reports London and Moscow revealed that for the first time since the start of the Russo-German war a coordinating night bombing attack on Germany is being waged by the Royal Air Force and the Red air fleet.

For the second night in succession the Russians attacked Berlin.

JAPS QUIET ON U. S. WARNINGS

Nippon Silent Regarding Her Policy In Thailand Movements.

(By United Press)

TOKYO — (UP) — Government quarters maintained silence today regarding United States and British warnings against a Japanese move into Thailand.

It was significant that the press, excepting the ultra-nationalistic newspaper Kokumin, refrained from commenting editorially. That was believed to indicate that the government still is debating its attitude.

The only comment was the charge of Koh Ishii, chief of the cabinet information board, that the United States, Britain, China and The Netherlands were attempting to encircle Japan.

Certain well-informed quarters said, however, that it was unlikely that any statement of policy would be made. They pointed out that Japan repeatedly has signified peaceful attitude toward Thailand.

Kokumin said insinuations by Cordell Hull of the United States and Anthony Eden of Britain that Japan is threatening Thailand's independence are "too serious a matter to be ignored in silence." The newspaper urged the government to "break the silence and torpedo Anglo-American false propaganda."

It charged that Britain and the

Fate of Draft Extension Up To 'Undecided' Congressmen

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON — Fate of the administration's request for longer service for draftees and other soldiers lies in the minds of 40 undecided members of the house, checkups by leaders of both parties disclosed today.

A last-minute canvass on what has become one of the most bitter struggles of the session showed party heads that they can expect about 190 certain votes for the bill and 180 sure one against it.

This leaves 40 in doubt to give a total roll of 410 out of a membership of 435—an unusually high vote expectancy.

Democratic whips, who have been keeping a close check on their colleagues in the controversial matter, said that a survey made since the senate approved the extension bill showed that 44 house Democrats definitely will oppose it, 180 will vote for it, and 30 are still in doubt.

Republicans said that 136 of their members will oppose the extension, 10 will vote for it, and 10 are undecided.

The polls came as the house,

GEN. JOHNSON:

By GEN. HUGH S. JOHNSON

WASHINGTON — The present hap-hazard helter-skelter unplanned method of cutting gasoline consumption in the eastern part of the United States either isn't going to work or it is going to raise unnecessary and unshirted hell with business, employment and the domestic and economic life of a large part of our population.

A voluntary pledge to cut each citizen's consumption of gas by one-third and the alternative universal threat to ration the use of gas by "pleasure automobiles" to five gallons a week are equally silly.

In the first place, there are few people who know what their actual consumption of gas has been. It varies with seasons and occasions. A pledge of that sort is to perform a mathematical operation on an unknown quantity. If I pledge myself to do something which can't be defined, I am either a careless promiser or an irresponsible citizen.

In the second place, what is a "pleasure automobile?" Millions of American workers travel to their daily jobs at plants located far from their homes in automobiles of styles varying from coffee-mill jallopies to more recent acquisitions. This condition is intrinsic in the revolution in our economic system and territorial redistribution of homes and factories created by the automobile itself. These cars, after transporting the man-power of our industrial effort remain parked and idle during the working day—and they go home again in the evening. Are they "pleasure cars," or a necessary part of our industrial system?

And which of these can cut their consumption one-third regardless of season and pressure of work? And can any of them perform their functions on 5 gallons of gas a week?

You can't apply such cast iron rules without chaos. Gas consumption depends on the age and quality of the car, the infinite variety of distances involved in its daily use for purposes sometimes not pleasureables at all, the difference between busy and slack seasons and a hundred other controlling circumstances too numerous to discuss.

* * *

There is a way to do what is sought—and more But it requires five things (1) you must "sell" your proposition by a full and frank disclosure of facts and figures proving necessity; (2) you must have a supporting voluntary, crusading uncompensated organization of leading citizens in every locality; (3) what you ask must be in common-sense flexibility for the infinite variety of needs; (4) you must have inspirational leadership; and (5) not to mince words, you must prepare the ground by perfectly conditioned ballyhoo.

* * *

I know something about this. I was part of an organization that sold a reluctant country the first conscription in our history to a point of enthusiastic crusading, universal compliance. I was part of another that plastered the Blue Eagle over 97½ per cent of American establishments subject to its statute to a re-employment of nearly 3,000,000 people and an increase of more than $3,000,000,000 in payrolls.

Both efforts were completed in six weeks time, but both were carefully planned in every detail in advance. Both answered every one of the five requirements stated in the paragraph above. This petroleum effort meets none of these tests. It is another blundering, bungling shot in the dark.

TWO KILLED IN TANKER BLAST NEAR DETROIT

FBI Probes Explosion of Ship Loaded With Gasoline For Canadian Company.

(By International News Service)

DETROIT — Half-submerged, the huge oil tanker, M. V. Transiter, smouldered in the River Rouge today as Federal Bureau of Investigation agents pressed a probe of possible sabotage in the explosion which burned the vessel and reportedly killed two persons, one the wife of the captain.

The Transiter, loaded with 700,000 gallons of high test gasoline destined for Canadian stations of the Austin Oil company, exploded three-quarters of a mile from the Ford Motor company's Rouge plant last night.

The crewless ship drifted menacingly downstream, tall flames threatening gasoline tanks along the river banks. It moved under drawbridges and bumped against docks of the American Chemical company where flames destroyed fences and several sheds.

Power streams of water from fire tugs finally forced the boat into shallow water where it grounded.

Believed dead were Mrs. Alda Trembley, 43, of Murray Bay, Que., wife of Capt. Rodolphe Trembley, and Roger Frechette, 20-year-old deck hand from Drummondville, Que. Fifteen other persons saved themselves by leaping from the flaming ship and swimming to shore.

Wayne County Prosecutor William E. Dowling said several crew members believed the blast was caused by the hot sun increasing pressure inside the vessel's gas tanks.

Smith, Mansfield garageman, contending that injuries he received when struck by one of Smith's cars forced him to resign his post with the Community Fund.

Palmer suffered a skull fracture and multiple bruises Dec. 16, 1939, when he was knocked down by an auto wrecker at Park avenue east and Franklin avenue, his petition says. He states that he was forced to stay in bed for nearly three months and still suffers from dizziness.

He contends that the driver of the car failed to control his speed and to observe reasonable caution at the intersection. Palmer is represented in his action by Attys' James W. Galbraith and George W. Biddle.

TWO GET OSR SENTENCES

Parolees Revoked as Youths Plead Guilty to Theft Of Beer, Money.

Two Mansfield youths were sentenced to the Ohio State reformatory for one to 20 years today by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston who revoked their probations after the youths pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering.

Sentenced to the reformatory were Merlin Hunter, 22, Seventh avenue, and Ralph Cline, 18, North Main street. Cline had been on probation only two months.

Hunter's brother, Melvin, 21, Seventh avenue, was held to the Richland county grand jury under $2,000 bond following a hearing in municipal court. He also is accused of breaking and entering.

Authorities said the trio, with two younger boys, were involved in a series of thefts in the northeast part of the city. They confessed taking a quantity of beer from the Hall Distributing company and breaking into the bath house at Liberty park and stealing a peanut machine, some money and candy.

A 16-year-old youth was ordered to the Boys' Industrial school at Lancaster yesterday by Probate Judge Stuart H. Cramer. A 13-year-old boy was paroled to his parents.

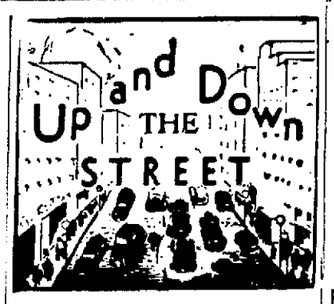
Up and Down THE STREET



Eddie Bellvue, business agent of the Ohio Brotherhood of Police and frequent Mansfield caller, has settled down as a "country gentleman" on a farm near Hastings. Apple of his eye is a trained dancing pony which cavorts daily to the delight of Bellvue and his friends. When his daughter sits astride the pony with a portable radio, Bellvue says, the pony puts on an extraordinary dance exhibition.

This is an admitted fish story, but Glenn Pore testifies it's true. Returning from a vacation, he told friends that at Petunia, Lake, Pa., the fish are so thick the wild ducks walk on their backs. And his explanation isn't so bad, either. He says visitors thow bread on the water near the spillway where the fish are the thickest and so many fish come up for it that when ducks try to dive for the bread they are actually walking on the fishes' backs. Or maybe Pore was just "wise-quacking."

The confidence one Mansfield woman has in her home town newspaper was displayed yesterday when she called her attorney in a divorce action to ask, seriously, if she was really divorced from her husband since she hadn't seen a notice of it in the paper. The attorney dispelled her doubt by explaining that the judge gave her a decree, which made it the McCoy. He added, however, that the entry is not always made immediately on the court record, and that newspapers must wait until the official entry is made.

PLAN MEETING

FSA Leaders to Talk Program At Session Aug. 20.

The Farm Security Administration will hold an all-day district meeting at American Legion home Aug. 20 to acquaint newly-elected advisory council with the program of the administration, J. Alden Payne, rural rehabilitation superintendent, said today.

Approximately 160 persons from 13 counties in the district will attend the session including officials from the state office of F. S. A., headed by A. L. Sorensen, state director.

Council members will come here from several nearby counties including Richland, Ashland, and Medina, Payne said. The delegation will include the farm and home supervisor of each county.

EXPLODES SILK HOSE THEORY

Experts Declare Stockings Will Not Rot When Stored.

NEW YORK — (INS)— Women who stored in a supply of silk stockings to beat a shortage due to the silk "freezing" order today may rest easily.

Exploding the theory that silk stockings rot when stored for a long time, silk experts said that silk is one of the most durable of fabrics. Silk hosiery manufacturers reported that their research departments conducted tests on stockings stored for three years and found no weakening of the silk threads.

CRICKET BOSS FOR DURATION

LONDON— (U.P.) —Six thousand cricketers throughout England are in charge for the duration of the war of Miss Joan Chamley, 25-year-old, pretty and tactful girl from Wimbledon, London.

As secretary of the Club Cricket conference, she has 300 clubs under her control and looks after the interests of every one of their players.

She is the first woman in cricket history to hold such an office and among her many duties are arranging fixtures and appointing umpires — apart from editing the conference 52-page handbook.

"But I will not do any selecting," says Miss Chamley.

REDS TO GET SHIPS BUILT FOR BRITAIN

Report Plans Are Complete For Delivery of Latest Type Medium Bombers.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — American built fighter planes now are en route to Soviet Russia, an authoritative source revealed today.

In addition, defense officials virtually have completed arrangements to provide Russia with the latest-type medium bombers now coming off the assembly lines.

The fighters were made here for Britain, but had not yet been delivered, and the British agreed to turn them over to the Soviet.

"Several hundred" were involved in the transfer. This source said, but the exact number was not learned. The number of these planes that already are en route to Russia also was not known.

There was no intimation as to the means used to deliver the planes to the Russians. It was generally assumed they were being moved by freighters across the Pacific to Vladivostok, Russia's Siberian port. However, it was considered possible to fly the planes to Alaska and thence across the Bering Strait to nearby Siberian air bases.

The bombers, it was understood will be flown to Russia, presumably by way of Alaska. Less than 100 bombers will be included in the first group.

The Russians, it was learned are paying cash for the aircraft. The deal is being handled through the facilities of the lend-lease administration.

The fighters will be used to bolster Russia's present reserve of that type ship. The bombers, however, will form new squadrons for moderately long-distance raids over German territory.

An official explained that the fighter planes were being rushed to the Soviet not because of any sharp depletion in the Red air force but rather to provide for any emergency that may arise from unexpected curtailment of Soviet aircraft production.

Russian military authorities have informed American officials that they have no cause for worry about their reserve supplies and equipment. But they emphasized that destruction of materiel—both the German and Soviet—in the present conflict is "staggering."

The British reserves of fighter planes are understood to be built up to the point where they felt it safe to turn over to the Russians some of the equipment under manufacture for them. British emphasis, at present, is on heavy long-range bombers.

Junk Dealers Find Fortune In 'Beer Checks'

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind.— (U.P.) — Mack Winters thought they looked like "beer checks."

Franklin Keller, his partner in the junk business, was more curious. He began scratching one of the metal pieces they had found in a dusty trunk, stored in a garage since they had bought it from an unknown owner.

"No, it looks like money," said Keller and the two partners hurried to the federal building.

George B. Loy, a secret service agent, subjected the pieces to an acid test and told the men they had found a cache of gold coins, some dating back to 1842. Loy said the coins carried a face value of $4,885, but he estimated the total value at $6,000 because some could be sold to collectors.

GERMANS CLAIM UKRAINE RAIL JUNCTION FALLS

Moscow Admits Heavy Fighting But Says Lines Hold; RAF, Red Airmen Hit Nazis.

The German communiques have not yet admitted that Soviet planes have been flying over the reich capital.

The RAF concentrated on the great Kiel naval base, the North sea port of Hamburg and the armaments center of Essen.

London said reports from Russia indicate that the Nazi thrust into the Ukraine now is about 75 miles from Nikolaev which is 60 miles northeast of Odessa, raising a threat that the big Black sea port may be encircled from the rear.

French Leaders in 'Momentous' Parley

VICHY —(U.P.)— Consultations on matters said to involve "momentous" decisions concerning France's relations with Germany and the United States were held today.

Marshal Henri Philippe Petain met with Vice Premier Admiral Jean Francois Darlan, Gen. Maxime Weygand, pro-consul for Africa, and Gen. Charles Huntziger, war minister, throughout the day.

A session of the council of ministers scheduled for 5 p. m., was postponed. No time was announced for the meeting.

Gen. Weygand had flown here from Algiers and Admiral Jean Darlan had returned from a hurried trip to Paris, where he conferred with German military authorities, in preparation for the meeting.

Marshal Petain, chief of state who presides at the meeting, conferred this morning with Weygand, Darlan and War Minister Gen. Charles Huntziger. Darlan was said to have reported in detail on his conversations in Paris with German military and political authorities.

All indications were that the meeting concerned the position France took in a note to the United States this week, replying to the warning from United States Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles against letting Germany get a foot-hold in Africa.

Red Navy Units Force Landing

MOSCOW —(U.P.)— A Russian naval unit forced a landing on the Rumanian coast of the Black sea and took 600 prisoners and a large quantity of guns and ammunition, the Soviet information bureau said today.

The Russian cutters approached as near the shore as possible and the sailors waded the rest of the way in the face of murderous machine gun fire, to subdue the defenders with bayonets, the bureau said.

The prisoners were Rumanians in German army tunics, according to the dispatch, and one captive was quoted that "the German officers gave us these tunics the other day to encourage us; they said that everybody was afraid of the Germany army and that if we put on the tunics our appearance alone would put the Bolsheviks to flight."

Open Revolt in Yugoslavia Reported

LONDON—(INS)—Reuters (British) news agency today quoted Jerusalem and Moscow reports that an open revolt was raging in Yugoslavia.

Resistance of the Serbs in Yugoslavia, Reuters said, is increasing in violence every day, and occupation authorities are masters only of the larger towns.

The entire mountain and hilly districts are said to be in the hands of guerillas who are attacking German troops and destroying reserves of munitions and food, the report said.

Rumanian losses in War Set at 100,000

LONDON —(INS)— Reports in Lisbon, relayed to London by Reuters (British) news agency, said today that Rumania has lost 100,000 troops on the Dniester front.

"The losses," Reuters said, "caused a great depression throughout Rumania, and outbursts against Premier Gen. Ion Antonescu broke out in the principal Romanian towns."

GET LUNCHEON IN 4 MINUTES

CHICAGO—(U.P.)—So that the modern woman shopper, intent on a bargain, does not lose any ground, a Chicago store has designed to serve luncheon in four minutes flat.

The method is a simple rotating service of moveable food carts and individual trays, attended by three stewardesses instead of the customary one.

JAPS QUIET ON U. S. WARNINGS

Nippon Silent Regarding Her Policy In Thailand Movements.

United States are the actual threat to Thailand, and cautioned that an over-long official silence might give credence to the Anglo-American inferences and create a "disturbing influence upon unsettled East Asia."

In a dispatch from New York, Asahi quoted "authentic sources" that Mexico had decided to terminate its long and friendly relations with Japan.

Enforces Economic Sanctions on Japs

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The United States government, it was learned today, plans strict enforcement of the present drastic economic sanctions against Japan as long as there is reason to believe the Nippon empire contemplates further aggressive action in the Far East, especially against Thailand.

No licenses are being granted by the government to facilitate the importation of Japanese silk into this country, and it is understood that few, if any, are likely to be granted unless there is a lessening of tension in the Pacific.

If Japan gives evidence of abandoning what are believed to be its designs on Thailand, and refrains from further aggressive action in the Pacific, this government, informed quarters indicated, will be willing to consider relaxation of the present economic sanctions and a gradual resumption of "peace-time" trade with the Nippon empire.

Although trade between the United States and Japan remains virtually at a standstill, the American government has not yet clamped down a complete economic embargo. Shipment of crude petroleum products to Japan still is permitted on a pre-war quota basis and the Japanese are being granted liberal access to Philippine products.

Jap Minister to U. S. Without a Ship

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Kaname Wakasugi, Japanese minister to the United States, who is in a hurry to return to Tokyo and make a first hand report to his government, today was without a ship.

He was booked to sail on the Japanese liner Asama Maru, but the vessel is unreported since leaving Honolulu a week ago.

The diplomat said he arranged passage on one of the two Japanese oil tankers in port, the Nitei Maru and the Otowasan Maru. Both vessels have applied for state department permits to load Diesel oil cargoes.

Fate of Draft Extension Up To 'Undecided' Congressmen

with feeling running high on both sides, rested over the week-end and prepared to start actual voting on amendments to the bill early next week.

As the senate passed it, the measure provides for 18 months more service for draftees, national guardsmen, and regular personnel, while the house committee is backing its recommendation for an unlimited extension of service.

Faced with what they openly admit is going to be "a tough, close struggle," house Democratic leaders were conferring over concessions they may make in last minute efforts to pick up votes.

While they are still waiting for further crystalization of opinion, there were strong indications the leadership may agree to an amendment to provide a one-year limitation on extra service.

Lineup on the measure is both sectional and partisan. The most solid bloc is that made up of Democrats from the intervention-minded south, who virtually to a man will support the bill in any form.

The Republicans, on the other hand, are almost solidly opposed to it with the exception of scattered defections, mainly from the New England and eastern seaboard delegations.

Wide splits, however, are reported among the northern and middle western Democrats, with most of the west coast Democrats favoring the proposal since tightening of the foreign situation in the Pacific.

In the northern states where there are large numbers of Democrats, administration leaders conceded that most of them from Pennsylvania and Indiana will go against the bill, and that there will be wide defections from the party in the delegations from Illinois, New York, Ohio, Michigan, Missouri and New Jersey.

Fears Draft Will Force Colleges to Cut Curriculum

CARLISLE, Pa.—(INS)—American colleges may find it necessary to graduate students in three years to avert the threat of depleted student ranks unless the selective service act is amended, contends Dr. Guy E. Snavely, executive director of the Association of American colleges.

The current world crisis was viewed by Dr. Snavely as a serious threat to the American educational system.

"It is hoped that responsible parties will not delay too long in realizing the absolute necessity of maintaining a sizable reservoir of educated leadership for all the problems that arise during the war," said Dr. Snavely.

"Liberal arts colleges must be prepared to oppose any trend toward shackling the colleges with governmental control, which follows inexorably upon state support."

OHIO BRASS LABOR DISPUTE TO GO BEFORE MEDIATION BOARD

The dispute between the Ohio Brass company and the Barberton local, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers, will be aired before the national mediation board in Washington Monday, it was learned today.

The Washington hearing was set after a conference of company and union officials with W. P. McCoy, labor department conciliator, Thursday. Company officials said no program toward a settlement was made at the conference, and listed the company's demands as adoption of seniority and grievance procedures. The company also claimed that the union had rejected a recognition clause which it said it had copied from the Wagner Labor Relations act.

Answering union demands for higher wages and more generous vacations, company spokesmen declared its wage rate was now 40 per cent higher than the average of its competitors, and that it now grants vacations.

Meanwhile, they said that despite an injunction granted in a Summit county court against mass picketing at the Barberton plant, company officials had been refused admission to the plant and alleged that mass picketing was still going on.

This brought an editorial rebuke in Friday's Akron Beacon-Journal to the local, Summit County Common Pleas Judge Frank H. Harvey and Sheriff Walter O.Neil. The editorial said the union had ignored the court order, that the judge had delayed issuing the injunction, though mass picketing is illegal, and that the sheriff had made no serious effort to enforce the injunction.

Said the editorial, in part:

"Not that it excuses the unionists one whit, but it was only to be expected that they would defy the injunction. Was it not Judge Harvey himself, who, during the hearing, said helplessly: 'They won't pay any attention to the injunction if I do issue it.'?

"When he acted, it was only after handing a lot of soft soap to the unionists. 'You are to be complimented on the peaceful manner in which you have conducted the strike,' he said to men who had blocked the plant's gates for weeks.

"If Sheriff O'Neil is in doubt about his authority, he might check with Sheriff Joseph M. Sweeney of Cuyahoga county. When the CIO tried to establish a 'dues inspection' picket line Wednesday at the Alcoa plant in Newburg Heights, Sheriff Sweeney promptly arrived on the scene with a squad of deputies. Their presence made it possible for all those who wanted to work to pass through the gates without molestation."

The union has also asked for recognition and sole bargaining rights at the company's Mansfield plant. The company contends that the matter is not within the company's discretion, and that it is the responsibility of the national labor relations board.

SCIENCE CHURCH SUBJECT 'SPIRIT'

"Spirit" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist tomorrow.

The Golden Text is: "The fruit of the Spirit is in all goodness and righteousness and truth" (Ephesians 5:9).

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "As every man hath received the gift, even so minister the same one to another, as good stewards of the manifold grace of God. . . . If any man speak, let him speak as the oracles of God; if any man minister, let him do it as of the ability which God giveth; that God in all things may be glorified through Jesus Christ, to whom be praise and dominion for ever and ever." (1 Peter 4:10,11).

Dr. Armington at First Methodist

Dr. William B. Armington of Lakeside, former pastor of the First Methodist church, will return to the pulpit of that church for the 10:30 a. m. morning service tomorrow in the absence of Rev. E. G. Corwin.

Mrs. A. O. Fraley will sing a solo, "Hear My Cry, Oh Lord."

The Youth Bible study group will meet Tuesday at 7 p. m. John Pfahler will be in charge.

Rev. and Mrs. Corwin and their daughter, Evelyn, are vacationing at Long Lake, Mich., seven miles north of Alpena.

GUEST SPEAKER

C. B. Cleverton of Cuyahoga Falls, representing the Gideons, will speak at the morning worship service at 10 a. m. in St. Mark's Lutheran church, tomorrow.

The Golden Rule Bible class and the pastor's aid society will hold a joint meeting at John's park, Tuesday noon.

SINGS SUNDAY

Crestline Tenor Gives Solo at St. John's Tomorrow.

Paul Post, guest tenor from Crestline, will sing "Behold the Master Passeth By" at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church tomorrow at 10:30 a. m.

BATTLE OF ARMAGEDDON IS PROPHETIC SUBJECT AT BIG TENT

"The Battle of Armageddon," the battle described in the prophetic scriptures, will be discussed Sunday afternoon at 2:30 at the big tent, corner of Wood and Ruth by Rev. Chas. W. Mayes.

Rev. A. D. Cashman, local director of the Brethren "America Back to God" Crusade announces that services will also be held at the tent at 9:30 and 7:45 Sunday. Beginning Sunday, August 17, morning and evening services will be conducted at the Prospect Park Pavilion.

The local crusade is working in co-operation with Dr. John E. Zoller who may be heard Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday over WJR at 7:15 a. m., and 11:30 a. m. on Sunday.—Adv.

SEEK REVISION OF TAX BILL

Senate Committee Studies Plan to Broaden Income Tax Base.

tionable to me that the committee would go that far."

The Georgia senator said that in all probability the committee will accept President Roosevelt's proposal that new exemptions in the personal income brackets might begin at $1,500 for married couples and $700 for single persons. The house bill kept the present rates of $2,000 exemption for married couples and $800 for single persons.

George said that the house recommendation of a $5 use tax for the operation of automobiles has its merits because it would reach approximately 30,000,000 people but added that "I have not yet made up my mind on it." George said also that the proposal is receiving "questionable" consideration from other members of the committee.

Testifying before the committee as it began hearings on the house-passed bill, Morgenthau renewed his fight for joint income tax returns, but George again threw cold water on the proposal, rejected by the house.

"I am still of the opinion that a majority of the committee will let the joint returns proposal lie where it is for a year or so," George said.

George said that the committee will resume hearings on the bill Monday when representatives of business, industry, and taxpayers will be heard.

Complying with Morgenthau's request for speedy consideration of the measure, George said that he will attempt to complete hearings in two weeks. It is estimated that the committee will take an additional week in executive session to write changes into the house measure.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, AUGUST 9, 1941.

Drive carefully tomorrow—help make August as safe a month as possible.

As nearly as can be guessed at this time, fair prices would be somewhere between the floor and the ceiling.

It appears that restriction of gas-selling hours in the east is resulting in unusually heavy traffic—so, as the president is accustomed to saying in such cases, "We'll have to try something else."

On Alert for Defense Orders

READY adaptability of a number of Mansfield's industries to the needs of defense production is revealed by comments of company officials on the article printed in a recent issue of the Wall Street Journal.

While there has been no effort to secure a mushroom growth of Mansfield by bringing a probably temporary new defense industry to this city, the management of local industries have been on the alert for defense orders which could be fitted into their production facilities.

Transition from production of "durable consumer goods" to partial or total production of defense materials is not a simple process, but a number of Mansfield manufacturers have already demonstrated ability to handle substantial defense orders in addition to their consumer output, and facilities can undoubtedly be expanded as the need arises.

Presented by the writer in the Wall Street Journal as a "typical industrial city," it appears that Mansfield industrial leaders have approached the problems of merging the production of consumer goods and defense materials in an intelligent, foresighted way that is most likely to prove beneficial to those engaged in industrial employment and to the city as a whole.

It has been Mansfield's preference, from its beginning as a city, to grow slowly and substantially rather than rapidly and precariously. The wisdom of this policy has been seen many times in the past, and, if adhered to, is quite likely to be again demonstrated during the period of readjustment that must follow the present defense emergency.

In its high percentage of home ownership and permanency of residence, its small ratio of undesirable "floating" population, its relatively minor relief problems and the fine employe-employer relations which have existed here through many years, Mansfield has earned high standing among American cities of its size, and there is every reason to believe that, with continued co-operation by all citizens, there will be further sound growth and civic progress.

Hunger Travels With Invaders

NAZI INVADERS are finding Russia a hungry place these days, and they are beginning to admit it. A letter, seized by guerillas, purports to be from Major Meltzer, tank column conductor for the headquarters of the Eighteenth German Tank Division. In it the writer pleads for provisions to be sent his division under strong escort. Many soldiers, it says, are dissatisfied with shortage of food.

> "Within the last six days I lost about twenty more picked men who were sent on trucks to surrounding villages to get food. Only three returned out of twenty-three and even they brought nothing. The rest were apparently killed or taken prisoners by guerillas who harass us day and night."

This picture of German soldiers going hungry would fall on more sympathetic ears if the world could forget Poland and Denmark. Also if the world could forget the meager and insufficient food of the best years in Russia, the terrible famines of the worst, recalling the bountiful tables which were characteristic of Germany before she began running amok and trying to grab the world.

That Natchez Pilgrimage Battle

MANSFIELDERS who have had opportunity to visit the charming little city of Natchez, Miss., during one of the pilgrimages conducted there each late March and early April, cannot escape a feeling of distress over the bitter rivalry of the two garden clubs that sponsor competitive "pilgrimages" to Natchez gardens and ante-bellum homes.

While the pilgrimages are somewhat commercialized, and distribution of revenues may enter into the conflict, the idea is so worthwhile and the visit to Natchez so delightful, that some way should be found to remove the venom which there has been no apparent effort to conceal from visitors.

Now, as related in yesterday's News-Journal, the controversy has broken into court, and what might easily be developed into an increasingly attractive community activity, may retrogress into an annual squabble which prospective visitors don't understand and don't like.

Some idea of the difficulties of attaining world peace is gained by considering that members of two Natchez garden clubs—fine women, every one of them—cannot settle their differences in a friendly way.

Although, even at this late date, the South may not welcome a suggestion from the North, here it is: Get together, Ladies of Natchez—One (pilgrimage) for all, and all for one.

Glaring Lights and No Lights

AS MORE attention is given to careful driving, the two bad habits of not turning on lights at dusk and failing to dim bright headlights for approaching cars will probably be given more attention.

Both of these practices come under traffic regulations of which a number of motorists appear to be ignorant, and an occasional dark car or one with glaring headlights is quite likely to be the direct cause of an accident.

Carelessness or negligence in failing to replace burned out bulbs, and driving on streets and highways with only one headlight showing, is another of the violations of law to which little attention has been paid in Mansfield and vicinity but which constitutes a considerable danger.

Budgeting for Tax Payments

THE tax anticipation notes which the government is now selling to prospective income taxpayers are not intended to raise money for defense or even to provide a profitable investment for the citizen. Their principal purpose is the withdrawal of cash from the consumer's pocket to minimize the dangers of inflation.

They happen, at the same time, to provide a good way for the taxpayers to budget those looming tax payments, which will begin next March 15, in a painless way so that the blow will not be so heavy when it falls.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—His pals are wondering what has happened to Count Rossi, the Italian speed-boat fancier and sportsman who won so many cups in America before the war and so many friends. When last heard of he had returned from an excursion to the Red Sea, was in the army and stationed near his home at Turin.

But this was a year ago, and now two events have taken place that bring the Count to the minds of his friends. One was the surrender of the Duke of Aosta at a place called Alagi in Africa a few weeks ago.

Alagi was an important name to Rossi. Alagi and Aradam are twin mountains captured by the Italians during the Ethiopian campaign. The Count named two of his fastest boats the Alagi and the Aradma and won many cups with them in America and throughout Europe. These sleek, speedy craft were powered by motors used by Balbo when he made his spectacular flight from Italy to Chicago during the Century of Progress Exposition.

The other item which recalls the Count is on the blacklist of Fascist firms in the Western Hemisphere published by the government the other day. The Count is owner of a great vermouth house, that, in addition, makes more than 60 other products. Times, as the Count must certainly be reflecting nowadays have changed.

IT'S THINGS like this that occupy baritone Conrad Thibault on his free days looking up oddities in the history of ancient music. . . . The flute, says Thibault, was the favorite instrument of the old Romans. . . . They passed a law forbidding more than 12 flutists to play at any one funeral. . . . In Wales it used to be against the law for any one save the king and his satellites to own harps.

In our own country, the Puritans looked upon the fiddle as the devil's own instrument. . . . They frowned on music unless it was hymnal or connected with congregational singing. . . . When Gossec first introduced the cornet in Paris the critics denounced it as harsh and unfit to be played in the decent society of oboes and violins. . . . After listening to some of these swing bands, I think maybe they had something there.

THE actor Burgess Meredith is building a 50 x 75 foot swimming pool on his country place on Camp Hill road, overlooking the old Revolutionary battlefield of Stony Point. . . . He has quite an acreage there. Recently a friend of mine, one of Meredith's neighbors, was kicking around the grounds and came upon a grave with a headstone that was marked "Hamlet." . . . That was Meredith's dog, a Great Dane. . . . Now Meredith has another dog, another great dane named "Hamlet."

The late Lou Gehrig had a dog too—a boxer, and a highly trained mutt it was. Now that Gehrig's life is to be made into a movie, Lou's dog has been "signed" to play the role he played for the last two years in real life. The dog's name is "Kim," after Kipling's hero in the novel by the same name.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Tuesday, Aug. 9, 1921.

GETTING OUT OF REACH

Predictions Are Usually Wrong

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Nothing is much sillier than predictions about military movements. To foretell the course of wars takes the seventh son of a seventh son, with no taint of logic permitted to color his dreams. And even then the prophet is usually wrong.

Somehow the crazier the source seems, the poorer the logic, the better chance the prediction has of coming somewhat near the truth. Just after the Russians demonstrated that they could put up a stiffer fight than anyone expected the writer recalled predictions made by a pipe maker in Chicago last September, which included President Roosevelt's re-election and that Germany would invade Russia in 1941, would take all of European Russia, and would lose 1,000,000 men in doing it.

To date that looks like the best prediction the writer has heard from any one, including so called military experts who write learned articles, appear before congressional committees, etc.

* * *

PICKING up a copy of a magazine printed in the summer of 1938, the writer read one of the most convincing summaries of the reasons why Germany would not go to war! The writer, an expert of parts as the magazine's explanation ahead of his article demonstrated, declared that Germany could not get the necessary war supplies.

Of course he never figured on France being overrun! He never figured on Norway becoming conquered territory, with Sweden terrified. He never even figured on a complacent Stalin, up to the moment of the German attack. On the contrary he figured on a hostile if not belligerent Russia, and on Norway and Sweden being drawn into the war AGAINST Germany. He did not explain his reasons for this, fortunately, but one wonders what they could have been, remembering that in the last war Norway and Sweden were certainly not unfriendly to Germany.

Of course there is the case of Senator Robert R. Reynolds, of North Carolina, who made a speech pointing out how easy it would be for this country to remain neutral, and proving it by pointing to the record of Denmark, Holland, Norway and Sweden in the last war! His timing happened to be particularly bad, for Germany invaded Denmark and Norway, and then Holland a little later.

Then there is the staunch pro-New Deal columnist, Jay Franklin who set himself up as a military expert about the same time as Reynolds was talking about Norway. Franklin "proved" very conclusively that Germany had lost the war by invading Norway. The British admiralty wishes he was right! It seems to have been quite an asset so far as naval bases and attacking the convoys from America are concerned.

* * *

ALL of this is intended as a warning not to take the war news too seriously for the next few months. There is just one sure thing—every day the Russians continue fighting is that much gain, whether they are fighting to defend Leningrad, Moscow or the Ural mountains which divide Europe from Asia. Especially so, if they are fighting near the Ural mountains, because the lines of communication of the Germans will be so long as to impose a terrific strain on the German war machine.

One thing to watch for is whether they overrun the Ukraine in time to benefit from some of the harvest. So far as final results are concerned it makes very little difference how many Russians are killed. It does not make so much difference, from a strictly military standpoint, how many Germans are killed. Germany has more men than she knows what to do with. But the effect on morale inside Germany of prodigious losses might prove the most important factor in the situation.

The One-Track Mind

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

DON'T underestimate the power of a one-track mind. Don't be too sure that you hold the winning cards because the Other Fellow acts like a moron or a clinging vine . . . or has only one notion while you can see "all sides of the question."

Many a talented life has been wrecked by such smug self-confidence . . . while the seemingly Dumb Dora has grabbed off all the stakes.

General intelligence may be a wonderful thing on a quiz program, but when it comes to everyday performance, it's the plodding plugger who usually brings home the bacon . . . or gets the alimony.

Consider the classical example of Jim. Jim isn't any one particular person—he's a type. You've known him in your office, your club, your family circle. Maybe you're a Jim yourself! He's the big, energetic, good natured guy who has made such a grand record since he left college. Yet he hasn't let success spoil him.

To the contrary, his own good luck has made him more eager to help the other fellow. It's a joke—how Jim will fall for any sob story. So nobody was surprised when he began to go around with that washed out little blond who claimed she was a refugee from Poland. Or a "Free French" journalist. Or maybe just a Home Girl whom nobody had ever understood.

Whatever her status, Jim took her under his friendly wing and began to give her gobs of wonderful advice . . . besides assuming her responsibilities and signing a check now and then. You couldn't let "a poor kid like that starve, could you?" A helpless youngster who didn't know her way around. Any man was a brute who'd turn her down.

Well, maybe Jim's blond didn't know her way around—much. But she was hep to one address. And before Jim knew how it all happened, he was standing before a Justice of the Peace and swearing to "have and to hold forever more."

So today Jim is still a big hearted guy, but his ambition has dwindled to just one desire—pleasing the Missus. He's no longer at the club, and he passes many an empty hour at the office. And he still doesn't know what's happened. He still doesn't realize that he has been shanghaied by a thoroughly selfish, ruthless, shallow pated woman who has but one interest in life—herself—and worked on it steadily. While he had scores of interests, but spread them all so thin he couldn't protect himself.

You've seen it happen many a time, haven't you? Sometimes to fine men—sometimes to fine women. But why? Why should plainly superior, intelligent people let their careers be wrecked by obviously inferior parasites. Is it because they are too kind hearted? They'll tell you that was the cause—and they'll believe they are telling the truth. But they aren't. The truth is—

THEY LIKE TO SHOW OFF.

They don't mean to show off. They don't know that such is their secret motive. Yet it is. The very warmth of their natures—their own enthusiasm and generosity—makes them like to Play God to someone who is obviously weaker and less intelligent than themselves.

Also, they are quite sure that there can be no danger in such benevolence because the other fellow is too helpless and too dumb to take advantage of them.

They don't realize that a single track mind which aims for one point and keeps going, has it all over a broad gauge brain that spreads itself all over the landscape.

Never underestimate the Guy with One Idea. It's true he has only a single thought against your scattered hundred—but so's a tiger. And why should you be anybody's hamburg?

Eggs From Argentina.

If your soft-boiled breakfast egg is imported from Argentina, blame Herr Hitler who started World war No. 2.

A news dispatch says that one great produce company has contracted for 360,000 dozen eggs from Argentina and that dealers there guarantee weekly deliveries in much larger quantities by refrigerated ships.

Until 1938, Argentina was our own best export egg market. Now, under the lend-lease law, our shipments to Britain have increased egg prices here greatly.

Some Argentine farmers who produce a surplus of wheat which they cannot export, turn to the poultry business and ship their eggs 6,761 miles from Buenos Aires to New York along with Argentine canned beef for our military forces.

The tariff on Argentine eggs is 10 cents a dozen, and yet the imported eggs are to be had in large quantities at prices well below those paid to domestic producers. —Toledo Blade.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

A "Con" Man.

"Con" is an abbreviation of confidence," and a confidence man is one who ingratiates himself into the mind and heart of another, with cheating aforethought.

About three-quarters of a century old, the expression had its origin in connection with a well-dressed and mannered New Yorker whose practice it was to approach people and inquire:

"Have you confidence enough in me, an entire stranger, to lend me five dollars, for an hour or two?"

Though arrested repeatedly, the panhandler persisted in his game, which, according to legend, netted him the soubriquet confidence man — since applied to suave swindlers of all types—con man for short.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Time Extension and Pay Increase For Draftees Approved By Senate

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

AFTER more than a week of heated debate the senate voted, 45 to 30, to extend service of draftees a year and a half—making it 2½ years instead of the one year specified in the original selectee service act.

The senate bill also carries an increase of $10 a month in pay after the first year of service, a last-minute action taken without approval of either the war or treasury department.

Supporters of extension of draftee service held with President Roosevelt and Chief of Staff Marshall that the safety of the nation would be imperiled by disintegration of potential manpower at the end of one year's service, and defeated proposals to limit extension of six months or one year.

Opponents contended that there was no such danger and that extension beyond a year "broke faith" with draftees.

Meanwhile the senate had passed legislation providing for mandatory deferment from service of men who became 28 before July 1 without being inducted. Men of 28 already in service were to be discharged if they so requested.

The extension and pay-increase bill now goes to the house, where further efforts to cut the period to six months or one year are expected.

* * *

Operations on Tax Bill.

The $3,529,200,000 tax bill became the $3,206,200,000 tax bill by the time it left the house but it hadn't been in the senate long before finance committee members were considering ways to get back nearer the original figure.

When the house eliminated the mandatory joint income provision before passing the bill, it knocked an estimated $323,000,000 off expected revenue. The senate committee didn't seem disposed to try to get that provision back. Rather, most of the talk centered about lowering present personal exemptions, one of three presidential suggestions ignored by the house.

At Home

Prices: Still Soaring.

The housewife who complains to the groceryman about the 36% increase in the cost of butter doesn't know the half of it. The wholesaler, right now, is paying 50% more than he did before the war—and that raise will find its way to the retail counters in short time.

Facts like that, shown with the aid of some 38 charts, were a major part of Leon Henderson's 90-minute talk before the house banking committee's open hearing on an administration price-control bill.

Henderson, head of the Office of Price Administration, told the committee that "a most pronounced increase in the cost of living" was unavoidable even if the control bill should became law immediately.

With discussion rampant on various phases of the bill, there seemed little likelihood of any immediate action on it. The measure would give the president authority to fix ceiling prices for any commodities, based chiefly on prices as of July 29, 1941, and to set maximum rents in defense areas.

* * *

Bicycling to Save Gas.

One of the first moves of handsome, strapping John B. Kelly, Philadelphia politician and former Olympic sculls champion, after he was named National Director of Physical Training was to suggest that Americans turn to bicycling. Cycling, he said, would (1) make people healthier, (2) save gasoline.

Bicycling was only one suggested solution for the gasoline shortage in eastern states. Petroleum Coordinator Harold L. Ickes asked 100,000 service stations in those states to stop selling gasoline from 7 p. m. to 7 a. m. (Trucks and taxis could still buy gas.)

A number of scattered independent operators ignored the request, but Ickes said the general results were "very satisfying."

Ickes also proposed that owners of commercial vehicles save from 20 to 35% on gasoline, mainly by skimping on delivery service.

* * *

Workin' on the Railroad.

Newsmen in Chicago were the audience of a notable debate. The question was: "Should railway employes be given a 30% raise?" On one side were spokesmen for railroad management, on the other were union leaders.

Union men pointed to the soaring costs of living and to the increased productivity of employes. Management spokesmen said increased productivity was due to technical improvements and disputed the union men's statement about railroad profits.

The argument grew sharper. When the rail lines rejected the union demands for higher wages, leaders of 19 railroad brotherhoods asked their 1,200,000 to vote on the question of strike.

* * *

The Scramble for Roads.

President Roosevelt didn't object to senate and house amendments which raised his requested $125,000,000 defense road program to a $320,000,000 project. But he did put thumbs down on allotting the original $125,000,000 of the sum for apportionment among the states on a pro-rata rather than strict defense need basis.

Senators overrode the veto, 57 to 19.

Abroad

British-Made Diversions.

With the German army's back turned toward England, there were increasing signs that Britain would strike (or feint) in several widely-separated Axis-occupied directions to force Germans to divert some of their strength from the Russian front. Here are some of these sectors:

1—British censors allowed newsmen to report that a new front might be opened with an attack on the far-northern Finnish port of Petsamo. Such an attack would sever the Nazi coastal supply route to Petsamo, relieve German-Finnish pressure on Leningrad by diverting enemy forces, and open a new British supply route to the Russians shorter than across the Pacific and over the trans-Siberian railway.

2—Berlin was reported by an RAF pilot to be heaving "like a volcano" after Britain said she sent over between 200 and 300 planes. Such poundings might well force the Germans to rush their planes back home to meet the onslaught.

3—That the Germans feared a British attempt to land an expeditionary force in German-occupied Norway was indicated when the Reich's hard-boiled Commissioner Joseph Terboven declared a state of emergency.

* * *

Berlin's Make-Believe.

Travelers recently come from Berlin have told Britons that a wood-and-cardboard outline of the whole city of Berlin has been built near Berlin to lure British bombers from the real target. All familiar landmarks reportedly have been reproduced.

* * *

Neighbors vs. Nazis.

The Argentine government suppressed the "Alliance of Nationalist Youth" on grounds that the movement has a "totalitarian military character," after a raid on the headquarters of a German movement. Both the British and German governments were warned by Argentina to tone down their propaganda in that nation.

After Mexico received a request from Germany that she protest President Roosevelt's blacklist of Axis traders in Latin America, she was said to be "seriously considering closing German consulates." The German request was flatly rejected and Berlin was rebuked.

* * *

Vacillating Vichy.

Vichy cooperated with the Axis in Syria by letting Germany use bases there until the Allies intervened, and in Indio-China by allowing Japan to move into southern Indo-China in the direction of Singapore.

These moves were made despite repeated assurances offered to the U. S. that Vichy would not cooperate with the Axis powers beyond the obligations imposed by the armistice.

Fed up, Acting Secretary of State Welles served notice that hereafter America's attitude toward Vichy would be governed by the "effectiveness with which France defends its territories against the Axis powers' aggression."

Thereupon, an "authorized source" in Vichy said that the Axis will not be given military facilities in French North Africa even should Vichy consider the African territories (such as Dakar) menaced.

Suspicious, London sources said this was "by no means the first time" Vichy had made such promises.

In Short

Killed: In the crash of an Italian bombing plane, Captain Bruno Mussolini, who had abided by his father's admonition to "live dangerously." Il Duce's son and two other members of a crew of eight were victims of a mishap during a test flight.

Died: Senator Alva Lumpkin, 54, of South Carolina. He was sworn in less than two weeks ago to succeed James F. Byrnes, who was appointed to the supreme court.

Arrived: In England, one of the biggest convoys yet to cross the Atlantic. It carried about $400,000,000 worth of food and arms. Britons said it arrived without injury to a single ship.

Sentenced: Enoch (Nucky) Johnson, Atlantic City's GOP leader for 33 years, to the maximum term of 10 years in prison and a $20,000 fine, for evasion of taxes on an income which the government charged came mostly from numbers operators.

Pointed Paragraphs

Did it ever occur to you that the easiest way to do a thing is to do it right?

Quotes

Camille Gutt, finance minister of the Belgian government in exile: "The day is no longer so far off when the Germans, realizing as in 1918, their losses, their failures, their shame, will crack up. . . ."

Senator Nye (R.-N. D.): "Movies have become the most gigantic engines of propaganda in existence to rouse the war fever in America and plunge this nation to her destruction."

WILLKIE PREDICTS WAR WILL BRING ABOUT NEW WORLD ORDER

DAYTON —(CP)— The Dayton Journal today quoted Wendell Willkie as predicting that a new League of Nations supported by an international "police force" will emerge from the present world conflict.

"Out of the horror of this war will come a new order—a League of All Nations with an international police force to maintain order—and the man who brings this about will be the greatest man of the age," Willkie told a Journal reporter in an interview at Rushville, Ind., home of Mrs. Willkie.

"The real problem," Willkie said, "is in winning the peace. We must have a good, a just and lasting peace out of this war. I have confidence that the United States will lead the world toward the establishment of an order not controlled by hate or by selfish interests."

Turning to the present, the 1940 Republican presidential nominee said he thinks this country should follow 'the advices of naval leaders and establish American bases in the points that those naval experts said were most necessary."

Miami Musicale.

Miami's white beaches and blue lagoons provide the background for the lavish Technicolor musical, "Moon Over Miami," showing at the Ohio. Featuring Betty Grable, Carole Landis and Charlotte Greenwood, the production deals with the efforts of a trio of husband hunters to land a millionaire for Betty Grable. They invest an inheritance to gain their end and then the girl falls in love with another fortune hunter out on a similar mission. Don Ameche and Robert Cummings are cast opposite Bety and Carole and the players include Jack Haley and the Condos brothers, dancers.

* * *

Exciting Plot.

Stamped out in one place, the underground movement to rid dictator-ruled nations springs up in another in the Madison attraction "Underground," starring Jeffrey Lynn and Kaaren Verne. Dealing with the young men and women who have set themselves to the task of riding their countries of oppression, the picture features Lynn as a totalitarian soldier who discovers the thing for which he is fighting for is nothing but lies. Philip Dorn plays Lynn's brother and a leader in the underground movement. Mona Maris is also in the picture. The "Bumsteads" penetrate the social whirl in "Blondie In Society," the companion picture with Penny Singleton and Arthur Lake.

* * *

Dynamic Story.

Bette Davis has one of the most dynamic roles of her career in "The Great Lie," opening Sunday at the Ritz. As a modern daughter of the old south she weds a dare-devil aviator played by George Brent and then sees him transfer his affections to Mary Astor, a brilliant concert pianist. The battle between the two women to retain the airman's affections gains momentum as the plot unfolds. "Raggedy Ann," a cartoon feature replaces the usual second attraction.

Frontier Comedy.

"The Lady From Cheyenne," comedy-drama opening Sunday at the Park, gives Loretta Young the role of a naive but determined young eastern girl who gets out west in 1870 to make her fortune. She leads a fight against crooked politicians headed by Edward Arnold and falls in love with Robert Preston, Arnold's accomplice. Jessie Ralph and Gladys George are in the cast that deals with feminine emancipation in old Wyoming, not without a touch of comedy. "From Rags to Riches," is the other feature.

* * *

Comedy Drama.

Russell Hayden trades his chaps for a chauffeur's outfit in 'Two In a Taxi," comedy drama, showing at the Majestic. As a taxi driver, tired of coping with traffic, he tries to buy a business but runs into difficulty when he attempts to raise the money. Anita Louise is co-starred with Hayden, playing the role of a blond model, whom Hayden wants to marry. Noah Beery, jr., Dick Purcell and Chick Chandler were in the cast. Tim Holt is starred in the second picture, "Six Gun Gold."

Rev. and Mrs. Gerard Van Laar left Wednesday for Iowa to visit relatives. Rev. C. Ibersoff of Calvin Seminary will conduct services during Rev. Van Laar's absence.

Couple Married In Sundown Ceremony At Mohican Park

LOUDONVILLE—A Loudonville couple yesterday chose a ledge in Mohican state park overlooking scenic park valley as the site for their wedding.

The couple was Miss Jean Paullin and George Shreve, jr., both graduates of Loudonville high school.

Just at sundown the couple stood overlooking the valley attended by Miss Ruth Paullin, sister of the bride, as bridesmaid, and George Irving, as best man. Both attendants are residents of Loudonville.

Rev. J. H. Coleman, pastor of Zion Lutheran church, performed the single ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families.

Following a brief wedding trip, the couple will reside at Loudonville.

CONSERVATIONIST SPEAKS AT MEETING

Mansfield Garden Club Given Opportunity to Hear Dr. Paul Sears of Oberlin College at Guest Program Friday.

THROUGH the efforts of Mrs. Louis Bromfield, one of the country's leading conservationists, Dr. Paul Sears of Oberlin college, came to Mansfield Friday to speak at the meeting of the Mansfield Garden club. Guests for the luncheon and program at the Louis Olson home were presidents of the other local garden clubs and their conservation chairmen. Dr. Sears, professor of botany and biology at Oberlin college, spoke to the group on the need of conservation in Ohio, as well as in the other states.

Dr. Sears, who conducted the round table discussion at the recent convention of "The Friends of the Land" in Columbus, Mansfield and other conservation projects on their tour, spent many years in Oklahoma studying conservation.

Speaking to the garden club members yesterday, he outlined the history of the state of Ohio, telling of the condition when the pioneers settled here and of that of today. He urged teaching of conservation in the schools but explained that adults could do much more to better the conditions. He urged the members to know their county better and study water supply, soil and forestry. It was also suggested that clubs sponsor scholarships so that teachers could receive thorough training in conservation schools in this state.

Hostesses for the highlight meeting of the season were members of the executive committee, Mrs. Olson, Mrs. George Stephens, Mrs. W. G. Moore, Mrs. John Hattery and Mrs. Ephraim Brown. Luncheon was served at small tables in the home, Park avenue west road, at the noon hour, after which Dr. Sears spoke on the terrace of the lovely lawn.

The next meeting of the club will be held Aug. 22 with Mrs. William Weldon and Mrs. Carl Routzahn as hostesses. Mrs. Alfred Reynolds will be in charge of the program.

Pairings Made For Westbrook Women Golfers

Mrs. R. L. Walker and Mrs. W. A. Springer will be in charge of the arrangements for the golf day for women at Westbrook Country club Tuesday. Members have through Tuesday, Aug. 12, to qualify for the annual championship tournament. On last Tuesday the Westbrook women were hostesses to the women golfers of Shelby Country club.

Prizes awarded to players from Shelby were as follows: Mrs. Hurl, low gross; Mrs. Poland-low net; Mrs. Brown-low putts. Westbrook winners of low net were Mrs. C. C. Fish, first flight; Mrs. R. W. Stevens, econd flight and Mrs. F. H. Maxwell, third flight.

Pairings for next Tuesday are as follows:

PLAN SKATING PARTY

LEXINGTON — The Lexington Futurettes 4-H club held a meeting at the home of Mrs. Simon Sief Friday. Plans were made for a skating party to be held Aug. 18.

Linneaus Garden Club Has Meeting

Mrs. Fred Dippman, Park avenue west road, was hostess to 11 members of the Linneaus Garden club Friday at her home. Lucheon was served at 1 o'clock at small tables centered with mixed bouquets of summer flowers. Mrs. Henry J. Paulsen presented the floral arrangements which consisted of gladioli and petunias.

Mrs. C. E. Payne presented the program, speaking on "Phlox." The club members have been invited to spend several days next week, Thursday and Friday, at the country home of the Frank Glasgows, near Newark. About ten are planning to attend. The next regular meeting will be held Aug. 22.

Series of Nuptial Parties Begin for Miss Elaine Fox

Mrs. James Rizer and her daughters, Margaret and Jane, entertained Friday evening at their home, 243 Ruth avenue, with a lovely party for Miss Elaine Fox. The honoree will become the bride of Mrs. Rizer's nephew, John Pfahler, on Sunday, Aug. 24, at 2:30 o'clock at the First Methodist church. The evening was spent socially and bunco was the diversion. Prizes were won by Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. Charles Fox and Mrs. Robert Hostetler, who presented them to the bride-to-be.

At a late hour the 16 in attendance were served refreshments at a long table. A mixed bouquet of garden flowers in the pastel colors were placed in a crystal bowl and formed a centerpiece. A miniature bride and bridegroom was also included in the table decorations and tall lighted tapers illuminated the scene. Favors and appointments were in the pastel colors.

Following the luncheon the honoree discovered a large umbrella which concealed the shower of kitchen gifts. The hostess presented her with a wedding gift. Mrs. Robert Hall and Mrs. John Williams of Lexington were the out-of-town guests present.

The second in the series of parties for Miss Fox will be given Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Charles Ray, 10 State street.

Garden Study Clubs Meets at McDaniels

Mrs. O. H. McDaniel, 483 Shepard road, entertained members of the Garden Study club at her home Friday afternoon. Eleven members and two guests, Mrs. Andrew Tatiss and Mrs. L. D. Bower, were present. Luncheon was served in the reception room at small tables centered with garden flowers. At the end of the room was a table of mid-summer flower arrangements. Following the luncheon the guests visited Mrs. McDaniel's flower gardens.

Mrs. Clarence Lisle gave "Information Please," a question and answer contest. A talk on "Mid-Summer Flowers" was given by Mrs. B. W. Forkner. Mrs. Louis Rahn led a discussion on flower arrangement and read a poem on "Gardening." The afternoon was spent socially following the program. Mrs. H. D. Bishop, 218 Penn avenue, will entertain the club at her home Aug. 22.

Observe Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Harker S. Whipp of Compton, Calif., former residents of this city, observed their silver wedding anniversary yesterday with open house. They received friends and relatives at the home of Mr. Whipp's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Appleman, 779 Maple street, in the afternoon and evening. The Whipps renewed many old acquaintances as it has been 13 years since they visited in Mansfield.

Miss Sara Alacca Honored at Nuptial Party

Miss Sara Louise Alacca, bride-elect of Ernest B. Calver, was feted with a miscellaneous shower recently at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Alacca, 275 Park avenue east. The ceremony will be performed Sept. 6 at 11 a. m. at the First Christian church with Rev. B. F. Hagelbarger officiating.

Forty guests were in attendance. Games and contests were diversions of the evening. Luncheon was served at the close of the evening at a long table decorated with pink and white appointments and centered with two large baskets filled with garden flowers. Gifts were presented the honoree by the guests.

The total production of more than a million cows, supplemented by many tons of sugar, fruits and other ingredients, goes to supply the 1,200,000,000 quarts of ice cream consumed in America annually.

Mrs. Bredbeck Is Hostess to Club

Twenty-two members of the Town and Country Garden club were entertained Friday at the home of Mrs. Millard Bredbeck, 87 Vennum avenue. Mrs. George Price conducted the routine business session after which the program was given by Mrs. Stuart Cramer. She spoke on "Identification of Common Weeds and Their Control." A short horticultural talk was presented by Mrs. Walter Willis.

When luncheon was served at the noon hour Mrs. Clay Noel presided. A lovely arrangement of white vases filled with mixed white flowers formed a pretty centerpiece. The next meeting will be held at the Noel home, 457 Davis road, on Aug. 22.

Club Holds Annual Installation Friday

Recently elected officers of the Sarah E. Lewis, Jr., club, No. 20, were installed Friday afternoon when members of the organization met for their regular meeting at Memorial hall. Officers installed were Lois Jolley, junior vice president, Elaine Miller, patriotic instructor, and Mae Marie Mitchell, press correspondent.

During the business session which was conducted by Beatrice Shade plans were made to begin drill practice in several weeks. A picnic will be held Friday at Spring Valley on Fifth avenue. Members attending are asked to meet at 1 p. m. at Memorial hall. Naomi Locke was appointed chairman in charge of arrangements for the picnic. The next meeting will be held Aug. 22 at Memorial hall.

SURPRISE PARTY.

Nine girls of the cord line at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company surprised one of their group, Mrs. Bertha Young, 370 Central avenue, with a farewell party at her home Thursday evening. Games were played during the evening. The guests presented the honored guest with a gift of pottery. Luncheon was served at the close of the evening.

Miss Norma Casey Feted at Two Nuptial Events

Miss Norma Casey, bride-elect of Philip Hallabrin, was feted at two parties this week. Mrs. Elizabeth Hallabrin, 127 Gibson avenue, entertained in her honor Thursday evening at her home wtih a miscellaneous shower. Sixteen guests were in attendance. The evening was spent socially. Luncheon was served at small tables decorated with yellow roses. The guests presented the honoree with a shower of miscellaneous gifts and the hostess presented the honoree with a gift of linen.

Twenty guests were present Friday evening at the shower given in honor of Miss Casey by Miss Ruth Jaberg, South Diamond street. During the evening a brides book was made. Later bridge was played and prizes won by the honoree, Miss Tresa Frisch and Miss Helen Smith.

Luncheon was served at two long tables centered with garden flowers and lighted tapers. The honoree discovered her gifts by breaking balloons which were in a cluster representing a bouquet of flowers. Each balloon contained a rhyme revealing the hiding places. Out-of-town guests in attendance were Mrs. Robert Jordan, Loudonville and Mrs. F. E. Jaberg, Canton. The hostess presented the honoree with a gift of crystal. Miss Dorothy Hallabrin will entertain in honor of Miss Casey Thursday evening at Prospect park.

Mothers' Home Circle Meets At Pavilion

Mrs. Irene Hines was in charge of the regular meeting of the Mothers' Home circle which was held at the North Lake park pavilion Friday. The day was spent in quilting and sewing and at noon the committee served a dinner. Those in charge were Mrs. Ollie Valentine, Mrs. Mary Gettz, Mrs. Eva Mitchell, Mrs. M. E. Matz, Mrs. Frank Campbell and Mrs. A. J. Winget.

The devotions were led by Mrs. A. J. Winget and reports were given on the welfare work. At a late hour in the afternoon refreshments were served. The next meting will be held Sept. 12 at the North Lake park pavilion. Hostesses will be Mrs. Dorothy Rantz, Mrs. Myrtle McCready, Mrs. Jennie Brown, Mrs. C. S. Andrews, Mrs. Clara Balliett and Mrs. David Schraedly.

Book Reviews Given At Astowela Meeting

Mrs. Charles Sullens and Mrs. H. H. Shaw were hostesses to members of the Astowela Garden club at the Women's Club Friday morning. Twenty-three were in attendance. Reports on school gardens were given by Mrs. Paul McConnell and Mrs. A. R. Perl. Mrs. McConnell furnished the program, speaking on the history of well known flowers and reviewed the book, "As One Gardener To Another," by Ellis. She also gave a resume of the humorous book, "Garden Clubs and Spades," by McKinney.

Luncheon was served at the noon hour with Mrs. Emercon Weller presiding. A unique arrangement of red gladioli and other dainty flowers centered the table. The next meeting will be held Aug. 22 at the Women's club with Mrs. William Althouse and Mrs. Carl Willsey as hostesses.

JUNIOR GARDEN CLUB PRESENTS PROGRAM

Younger Garden Group Entertains Cottage Garden Club at Luncheon Meeting at Home of Mrs. S. D. Hoover, Ashland Road.

IT WAS through their own keen interest in gardens that members of the Cottage Garden club sponsored the newly organized junior group, the Junior Garden club. Yesterday the younger organization showed their appreciation by furnishing the program for the elder members at a meeting held at the home of Mrs. S. D. Hoover, Ashland road. Mrs. E. L. Robertson was the associate hostess.

Eighteen of the Cottage club and 11 of the Junior club were in attendance. The juniors surprised their guests with attractive place cards made of assorted vegetables and with dainty favors which were miniature vases filled with pretty nosegays. Luncheon was served at noon at small tables. One guest, Mrs. Kathleen Williams, was present.

Miss Florence Gernhardt, advisor of the Junior club, introduced the program, and the members gave interesting reports on their own gardens or favorite flowers. They also showed scrap books which they have been working on since their organization meeting.

The next meeting of the Junior club will be held Aug. 16 and the Cottage club will meet Aug. 22 at the home of Mrs. J. B. Conard, Anover road, with Mrs. Ernest Larson as associate hostess.

ANNUAL REUNION.

The third annual Schmunk reunion will be held Sunday at Johns park. Dinner will be served at noon.

Mrs. Forsythe Entertains for Miss Murphy

Miss Evelyn Murphy, bride-elect of Harry Oster, jr., was feted at a pretty party last evening given by Mr. Oster's sister, Mrs. Clifford Forsythe, Woodward avenue. Tomorrow Mr. and Mrs. Harry Oster, sr., and their children, will honor Miss Murphy and her fiance, at a buffet supper and garden party at the Oster home, Woodward avenue. This will be for relatives.

Last night Mrs. Forsythe entertained a group of friends and the diversion was hearts. Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Lionel Smaltz, Mrs. Gretchen Hammond and Mrs. Harry Hollingsworth, who presented them to the honoree. The guests surprised Miss Murphy with a shower of linen gifts and the hostess gave her a gift.

At a late hour a luncheon was served at a long table which was unusual with its appointments. Miniature hands of pottery held dainty nosegays and these were given as favors to each guest. The centerpiece was two larger hands and a canoe filled with roses.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"IT ISN'T an important hypothesis, Noel," I said hurriedly, as I went to the door, "and of course I can't give it to you now. But you shall hear it, never fear."

"It doesn't matter now whether or not I ever hear it," he said, and his eyes, fixed on the door, were filled with such love and longing that I turned away my own quickly, as if from something sacred.

I swung the door open and Mary came in, not with her usual elan, but with a certain timidity and hesitancy which were utterly foreign to her, but which were wonderfully appealing.

"Oh, Noel!" she said in convincing surprise, and I paid a mental tribute to her histronic powers. "I didn't expect to see you here."

Both Assume the Blame.

But Noel was neither uttering nor answering platitudes. He stood motionless, literally devouring her with his eyes, while he uttered her name again and again.

"Mary! Mary;" he called to her, and she lifted her head at the call and looked full into his eyes.

I knew there was no more need of words between those two, but Noel was babbling them.

"I've been such a jealous fool, Mary," he said. "Can you ever forgive me?"

I knew what her answer would be before she made it. Almost every wife has played that scene.

"Don't ever think of it again!" she adjured him. "I was the one to blame. Just because I was furious at you was no reason for me acting the complete idiot, the way I did. I'm the one who should ask forgiveness."

"No, no," Noel protested fatuously. "It was all my fault."

Mary Is Reassured.

Mary's gorgeous sense of humor could stand only so much of this sort of thing, I knew, and I was not surprised to hear a familiar gurgle of laughter from her.

"I'll give you two more 'sorries' and I'll take two," she said. "Then suppose we bat each other over the head and call it a day."

Noel's smile was rueful. "You can't be serious for over two minutes, can you?" he asked.

"It's a terrible strain," Mary admitted with a gamin grin, and I knew that she was reacting thus from the stress of her recent worry over Noel.

Now she had him back, safe and sound. He neither had killed Redfield, nor had he been injured by the actor. I guessed that she had avenged her own ego and Noel's by a scathing and pleasurable excoriation of Redfield, and to climax everything she had found her husband in a satisfactorily humble mood, and was assured not only of his forgiveness but of his deep love.

Madge Leaves Them Alone.

I moved toward my bedroom door, for though neither of them had paid any more attention to me than if I had not been in the room, I knew that I should be more comfortable out of their sight and hearing.

"I'll give you two ten minutes," I said. "Then Noel must go away, for both Mary and I must rest a bit before my father arrives."

"I won't be polite and say, 'Do stay, Auntie Madge,'" Mary told me, wrinkling her nose impudently at me.

"I shouldn't believe you if you did," I retorted, and closed my bedroom door upon the two.

I knew that Mary would not overrun the limit I had set her, so I stretched myself out upon the cot, and with my usual facility for sleeping anywhere and at anytime, I was asleep in less than a minute. I was awakened by the gentle pressure of Mary's fingers against my wrist, and saw her smiling down at me.

"I am now ready to tell you all," she said.

CHAPTER XXX

The Allen's home in Honolulu proved to be more elaborate than Doris had imagined. She knew that Jimmy's family had money but the unaccustomed grandeur of the sweeping beach home made Doris feel uncomfortable. For the hundredth time she wished that she and Jimmy could have gone somewhere alone.

"I don't think your mother likes me," Doris said as they unpacked their clothes in the huge bedroom with a verandah overlooking the sea.

"Nonsense," her husband declared. "She's crazy about you."

But Doris knew this was not true. No doubt Jimmy did not feel the undercurrent between his mother and his wife, but men seldom understand these intangible faminine barriers. Doris did not like to trouble Jimmy with her problems. In a way she did not blame Mrs. Allen for regarding her with suspicion. How was she to know that Doris was any different from the first girl Jimmy had chosen for his wife?

* * *

The dinner that evening in the fading Hawaiian twilight seemed endless to Doris. Politely she sampled the untamiliar dishes and listened to the conversation between Jimmy and his father. In the light of the giant candelabra she saw the mask of his mother's face. She saw to Doris's needs with apparent concern and friendliness but the girl knew there was no real warmth in her words.

"If I didn't love Jimmy so much I wouldn't care," Doris thought as they sat on the terrace sipping their after-dinner coffee. "but I want his family to like me. I want to be part of them."

Mr. and Mrs. Allen, senior, retired early, leaving the young people alone.

"Happy, sweetheart?" Jimmy murmured, reaching for her hand. Doris put her small trouble out of her mind. "Of course."

They sat in the velvet darkness, stars gleamed from the bright blue sky and native music lilted in the distance.

"There's always music on the islands,' Jimmy remarked. "Wherever you go, no matter what time it is, you can hear it."

"You've been here before?"

"Many times. My parents and I used to come here every winter."

For some illogical reason the way he said "My parents and I" made Doris feel like an outsider.

"Jimmy," she cried, 'you do love me, don't you?"

He drew her down into his lap. "You know I do! What's the matter, dear? Are you tired? Has the day been too much of a strain for you?"

"Everything seems so strange," Doris complained in a small voice, hiding her face against his dear shoulder.

He laughed. "What a baby you are!"

Here in his arms, sure of his affection, Doris was content. The world could move on about them in its own strange pattern. He was her world, her life.

The days that followed passed in lazy succession. Doris and Jimmy swam and tanned themselves under the warm sun. He taught her how to ride a surfboard and they were very gay. Her fair skin became copper-colored and her hair a paler gold.

"You're more beautiful than ever," Jimmy told her as they danced one night at the hotel.

* * *

Drifting light as a butterfly in his arms, Doris raised her radiant blue eyes to his handsome face. She was wearing a white silk jersey gown that set off the tanned skin and fair hair. Jimmy himself had picked out the dress in one of the local shops. Around her neck nestled a lei of white carnations. When the music stopped they could hear the surf pounding the white sands of Waikiki.

As Doris and Jimmy walked arm in arm on the terrace he said suddenly, "Would you be terribly disappointed if we had to leave the island before the month was up-"

"I don't think so," Doris said honestly. "It's been wonderful here but weve already had almost three weeks and we have a lot of settling down to do when we get back to Chicago."

"Yes. That's what I mean." And Doris fancied that his voice was troubled.

"Is anything wrong, darling?" she asked quickly.

But he evaded her. "Nope. Let's go back and dance."

Doris knew him too well to question him further. Wild horses could not drag information out of Jimmy Allen unless he wished to give it. He expected Doris to believe in him unquestionably and, wisely following her intuition, she kept silent.

"When do you want to leave?" Doris said as they drove home along the beach road in the magical silver moonlight.

"The next boat sails Saturday. We'll take that if we can get reservations. I'll see about that tomorrow."

Doris was surprised at this haste but she made no comment.

The next afternoon as she waited Jimmy's return she was joined by his mother.

"Jimmy tells me you may be leaving Saturday."

"Yes. He's anxious to get back to Chicago."

There was a pause and then Mrs. Allen said, "You know, Doris, there has been something I've wanted to say for some time."

Doris heard the ring of sincerity in her voice and glanced up.

"I'm afraid I've done you a great injustice," the older woman continued. "I'll have to admit that I was prejudiced against you, and it was very unfair of me."

Doris was touched. "I know how you must have felt."

"I didn't want Jimmy to marry again, at least not for a long time," his mother said seriously. "When he cabled me about his marriage to you, I was very much upset."

"I was afraid you would be," Doris said honestly.

The words "especially after his first marriage" rang in both their minds but neither spoke of it.

Mrs. Allen put a hand over her daughter-in-law's. "I was wrong, my dear," she said. "I can see now that you are just the kind of girl Jimmy needs. You've changed his entire outlook on life. You've melted all the bitterness in his heart. For a good many years I've been worried about him. He was always so impulsive but he's changed now and you've been responsible, Doris. His father and I are very happy about it."

* * *

Mrs Allen was a woman of few words and this was a long speech for her to make. Doris appreciated the effort it must have been to steel herself for her confession. Doris felt about her own happiness was now complete. With the approval of Jimmy's parents the last small piece was added to the pattern of her life as she wished it.

When Saturday came and she stood with Jimmy on the deck of the transpacific liner, Doris felt sad to leave this paradise. With real regret she had told his parents goodbye.

"Good-bye, my dear!" his mother had said. "Be happy, both of you!"

As Doris waved good-bye she doubted if she could ever be happier than she was at that moment. With the fragrant leis about her neck, the haunting island music in her ears, she whispered, "Aloha . . ." and the ship nosed rapidly into the blue waters.

When they reached their stateroom, Jimmy closed the door, lit a cigarette and said, "There's something I've got to tell you. I should have done it sooner maybe, but I didn't want our honeymoon to be spoiled."

Her face paled as she looked at him. "What is it, Jimmy?"

His eyes avoided her. "I've told you about the business my grandfather left me. It gave me a nice income, enough so that I didn't have to work. I never even paid any attention to it."

"But you promised you'd take an interest in it now."

"Yes," he laughed ironically, "but it seems I'm a little late. I learned just after we reached Honolulu that the business is all but ruined. While I've been chasing all over the world, things have been getting worse and worse. Now we're going to have to start the whole thing over, with practically nothing."

"Well?" Doris said softly.

"But you don't understand," he said. "I'm broke, Doris! Dad offered to help me but I turned him down, I've got enough to keep us for about six months on a small scale but the business will have to furnish our income after that. It won't be much to start with. Probably only a couple of hundred a month."

* * *

Pride welled in her heart that he had been too proud to accept his father's help, that he would stand on his own feet. She put tender arms about him." A couple of hundred seems like a fortune to me," she assured him. "We'll start over together, darling. You know the only thing that ever worried me about our marriage was the fact that you had so much money. I thought you had too much for your own good!"

He buried his face against her shoulder, "I wanted to give you the world, sweetheart! If I hadn't been such a fool this wouldn't have happened. We could have had everything."

"We already have everything," Doris said quietly.

He touched the expensive diamond on her finger. "I mean things like this."

"But those aren't the things that matter most," Doris said.

He kissed her passionately. "You're so sweet!"

"I love you, Jimmy."

His spirits rose with characteristic speed. "You know what we're going to do now?" she smiled at his eagerness.

"We're going up and have some champagne to celebrate our poverty."

"But, darling," protested Mrs Jimmy Allen, "we shouldn't spend money for things like that. Those days are gone forever."

"Not until we get off this boat," her husband told her firmly.

So they went into the bar and ordered champagne.

They smiled at each other across the table. "And they say shipboard romances never work out," Doris murmured.

Jimmy lifted his glass and his stormy blue eyes burned into hers.

"To our voyage!" he said, as he had said once before on that strange trip to South America which had brought them together.

"To our voyage!" Doris whispered, and touched her glass to his.

THE END.

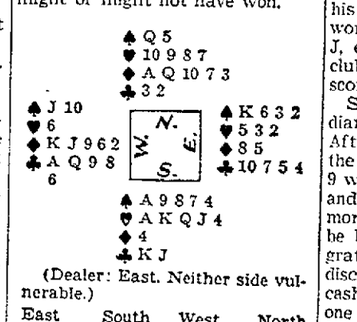
BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

GIVE UP A SURE LOSER

GRANTING that you have ample protection, by means of trumps in the case of a suit contract and by satisfactory stoppers in the case of a No Trumper, the deliberate giving up of a certain losing trick is usually better bridge than leading for a finesse. If the desired defender has to win the sure loser, he may be obliged to lead into your tenace position, and thus make the building of another trick for you unavoidable, whereas the finesse might or might not have won.



(Dealer: East. Neither side vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♠	2 ♦	Dbl
Pass	Pass	3 ♣	Pass
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	4 ♥

That was very pretty and extremely fine bidding, including two very interesting and significant passes—that by South to let north's penalty double operate, and that by North on his second turn, to see if South wanted to double the clubs. By less interesting bidding, several other pairs in the same duplicate at the Skytop club, in the Pocono mountains of Pennsylvania, also reached 4-Hearts by South.

What a difference in result came during the play, though it began about the same at all of the 4-Heart tables, with West leading the spade J to the Q, K and A, followed by three high trumps and usuallya finesse of the diamond Q. Then came the differences. One declarer then laid down the diamond A for a spade discard and tried the club finesse. This enabled West to cash immediately two clubs and his spade 10, so exactly 4-Hearts got made.

Another declarer, after winning the diamond 10 finesse, led the spade 5 to the 9 and 10, giving up his sure loser. West made the worst possible return, his diamond J, enabling the Q and A to bring club discards, so that six-odd got scored.

Soundest play was where the diamonds were not finessed at all. After the opening spade trick and the three high trumps, the spade 9 was led. West had to win this, and was afraid to return a diamond, for fear that South might be blank in the suit, which would gratuitously give him two club discards. So West promptly cashed his club A, to be sure of one more trick, and the show was then over, South getting the rest of the tricks without ever finessing.

Your Week-End Lesson.

Do you know why many expert players now employ ace-showing and other top-card-showing responses to original two-bids instead of those favored by the overwhelming majority of the great rank and file of pretty good players? Do you know what method of responding constitutes the other extreme in theory, and the reasons for it? Can you give example hands illustrating the value of these two conflicting theories?

Sport Podge by REX HESS

Bob Richards, of the Westinghouse personnel department, crashes through with a suggestion that should provide a lot of laughs next week for Mansfield baseball fans.

The Richards suggestion was more than that, it was a challenge: Westinghouse to meet the Mansfield Braves in a softball-baseball slamjamboree, and MAY THE BEST TEAM WIN, no doubt.

But from this corner it looks very much like Robert has stacked the cards on the baffled Braves.

* * *

Here's the plan:

When the Braves are in the field the two teams play baseball.

And when the Westies are in the field they play softball.

"It's the first time, as far as I know, that this has ever been done," says Richards.

* * *

We'll play the ball, both soft and hard,
If you're mixed up, excuse it, pard.

* * *

When Richards first told me about it, he said the ball club had already turned the plan down. They didn't want their boys hurt in such a balled-up ball game as that.

He'd offered it to 'em as first part of a double-header on a Westinghouse night at the Fairground.

But now the ball club tells me: "Sure we'll play. We'll even play hop-scotch, tiddle-de-winks and Andy-over if it'll bring those Westinghouse employes out to the yard. Yes, and play ball standing on our heads if we have to."

* * *

And so the challenge is accepted for next Thursday night. The two teams are booked for a five or seven inning tilt at 7 o'clock, with the Braves escaping from the dilemma later to take on the Lima Pandas in the night cap.

Now here is the Richards joker in the deck:

Most of the Westinghouse softballers are former baseball players, and guys like Tommy Moxley, Harry Ross, Ed Henrich and Aid Geiger were hard ball stars.

"We figure they can still hit at that hard ball pitching distance," says Richards, "and we don't think the Braves will be able to see a softball at the shorter distance."

* * *

So Richards lines it up, the smarty,
All for the fun of a Westinghouse party.

CHAMP GETS DUKE

NEW YORK —(INS)— Bantamweight Champion Lou Salica today held a close, 10-round decision over Henry Hook, veteran Indianapolis fighter after a thrilling bout before 5,000. Salica was outweighed seven and a half pounds in the non-title encounter.

Lefty Joe Gets Shot At Hose

Krakauskas Picked to Open Chicago Series.

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Joe Krakauskas, a big young southpaw who was recalled from Syracuse for pitching duty with the Indians, opens the three-game series against the White Sox today. He is after his first victory.

* * *

Although he has been used several times in relief roles, and made two previous starts, he has neither wins nor losses recorded against his name.

* * *

Clint Brown was credited with winning a game which Joe started against Washington, and Al Milnar was charged with the loss of one which Krakauskas started against Boston.

Edgar Smith is the Chisox hurler for today.

The series will end with a twin bill tomorrow at the stadium.

* * *

The tangle in which National league pennant contenders have managed to involve themselves may straighten itself out to some degree during the weekend.

* * *

The Brooklyn Dodgers are on top of the heap by three percentage points although tied in won-lost reckoning with the St. Louis Cardinals, who play three games in two days with the third-place Pittsburgh Pirates.

Pittsburgh, making a great drive, stumbled 1-0 yesterday on a magnificent one-hit pitching performance by 23-year-old Paul Erickson, who hadn't won a game for the Chicago Cubs previously this season. All that kept the young righthander from the pitching hall of fame was a single by Bob Elliott in the seventh inning.

It was the Pirates' third loss in 22 contests, ending a six-game winning streak. Since the first of August they have a cut a game and a half off the margin of the Cardinals, but even with their remarkable surge have lost an additional half-game to the Dodgers.

The week-end series at St. Louis should make or break the Pirates.

* * *

Brooklyn came through yesterday with its seventh straight victory as Whitlow Wyatt pitched six-hit ball to bulldoze the Boston Braves, 6-2. It was the 15th win for Wyatt.

* * *

An 11th-inning homer by Babe Young brought the New York Giants a 3-2 triumph over the Phillies in the only other National league tilt.

The slide of the New York Yankees continued with a 5-3 defeat by the Philadelphia Athletics in a night engagement which Bob Johnson won with his 20th circuit smash with two on in the fourth. The second-place Cleveland Indians were idle, but profited by a half-game.

The third-place Boston Red Sox outhit Washington, 16-14, and the Chicago White Sox rode roughshod over the St. Louis Browns for a 16-2 conquest.

Scatterguns Vie for Title

INDIANAPOLIS — (AP) — The race for the national all-gauge skeet championship was a neck-and-neck affair today as the field of 305, largest in history, headed down the back stretch in the 250-target, three-day event.

* * *

The scattergun enthusiasts, the majority using 12-gauge weapons, were to bang away today at 100 clays, with 50 more tomorrow winding up the seventh annual tournament.

* * *

Yesterday's opening 100-target test did little to clear up the situation. Ten of the amateur boys broke the entire set, 15 men and one woman missed only one, and the 98's were as numerous as ants at a picnic. The professional scrap produced two other "century" runs and a pair of 99's, leaving that race wide open.

* * *

Dick Shaughnessy, the 19-year-old Derham, Mass., boy who first won at 14 back in 1936 and then repeated last year at Syracuse, N. Y., was among the amateurs with perfect first-day counts.

* * *

Patricia Laursen, Akron's pretty 19-year-old blond bombshell, holder of the women's championship the last three years, skidded to a 98, one target off the pace set by Mrs. M. L. Smythe of Aurora, O., the sensation of the tournament. Another Ohio girl, Miss Jane Hoffmann, 21, of Lakeview, making her first appearance in the national, tied Miss Laursen at 98, making it a three-way race going into the second hundred.

Fight Results

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Lou Salica, 118½, New York (bantamweight champion) outpointed Henry Hook, 126, Indianapolis (10) non-title.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. — Raul Carabantes, 145½, South America, knocked out Patsy Pascuill, 152, Cleveland (2).

LOCOMOTIVES BOOK TILT

The Plymouth Locomotives will meet the Mansfield Colored Giants nine at Tillmans park, on the North Main street road, Sunday at 2:30 p. m. Slim Owens, a former Willard V. F. W. hurler, will start on the mound for Plymouth.

STRANAHAN CAPTURES FOURTH GOLF CROWN

AKRON—(AP)—Frankie Stranahan of Toledo owned the Ohio state Junior Golf association's championship today—his fourth major title of the current season.

Stranahan shot a 73-73—146 over the Congress Lake course at Hartville yesterday to add the junior title to this imposing list of championships: the Ohio amateur, the Trans-Mississippi and the Arizona state collegiate.

Tennis Joust Nears Finish

Five Championship Matches Scheduled.

Five championships in the News-Journal City tennis tournament will be decided over the week-end, leaving only the title in mixed doubles for decision the first part of next week.

* * *

Mary Gregoria and Meredith Fisher are scheduled to decide the girls' junior title today at 2 p. m. while the men's singles championship match is booked at 3 p. m. between Bob Keefe and Bob Spear.

* * *

Meredith Fisher yesterday defeated Lois Casto 6-1, 6-1 to gain the finals.

Sunday's schedule brings together Lois Shuey Weingartner and Ann Arron for the women's singles championship at 2 p. m. with the doubles title match booked for three p. m. between the Thornton Moore-Bob Ellison and Bob Keefe-Bob Enos duos.

* * *

Charley Franzen and Norman Wilcox meet in the third match Sunday for the junior singles crown, Wilcox having defeated Gene Miller to reach the finals.

* * *

Bob Spear and Mrs. Weingartner reached the finals of mixed doubles yesterday with a 6-0, 6-3 victory over Vic Alderson and Muriel Fisher. They will meet the winner of the Spear-Arron vs. Zoll-Gregoria match next week.

Cincy Legion Wins Tourney

Defeats Warren In Slugfest 15 to 10.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— The 1941 Ohio American Legion junior baseball championship belongs to Cincinnati's Robert Bentley Post.

The Hamilton county entry outslugged a hard-hitting Warren nine, 15 to 10, in the finals of the annual tournament yesterday to win their third state championship in the 15-year history of the classic. Only one other outfit, Middletown, has succeeded in scoring a triple.

* * *

The Bentley Post boys pounded out 20 hits in winning the right to represent Ohio in a regional tournament among winners from Pennsylvania, Michigan and West Virginia. A victory there would qualify the Cincinnatians for a crack at the national title.

* * *

Ohio officials said the regional would be played either at Cincinnati or in the home town of the Michigan champion. The date and site will be selected by Homer Chailleaux of Indianapolis, chairman of the Legion's junior's baseball program.

Warren's defeat marked the second year in a row that the Trumbull county entry missed the state crown by a single game. Last year they lost in the finals to Springfield.

Toledo Page Dairy Meets All-Stars

The Toledo Page Dairy softball club, who dethroned the Ferguson State Auditors as Ohio champions last year will meet a Mansfield All-Star team on the Fairground diamond Wednesday night.

The Pages have won the state championship in four out of the last six years. Last year they compiled an enviable record of 49 out of 52 games as they ran up a winning streak of 48 tilts.

To dethrone the Auditors as Ohio champs, the Pages had first to win the Toledo championship and the Northwestern Ohio district title to reach the state tourney.

Women's Golf Race Unchanged

Standings remained unchanged in The News-Journal ladies golf league at Possum Run yesterday as both matches were divided evenly, 1 to 1.

Bankers Drop Tilt In Two Heavy Innings

The Ohio Public Service softball club lashed out a 19-5 victory over the Bankers in a Club league tilt last night, while the Schoolmasters won by a forfeit from St. Peters Alumni.

* * *

Airhart and Leiter poled homers for the O. P. S. while their mates were hammering out a total of 23 hits from Moorhead's slants, as the winning club piled up all of its runs in two big innings, the fifth and eighth. Ridenour made a circuit trip for the Bankers.

The Schoolmasters took their scheduled tilt by forfeit as only eight players put in an appearance for the Alumni club.

Net Champ Learns To Take Beatings

RYE, N. Y.—(AP)—One look at Don McNeill, national singles tennis champion, is enough to convince you that he has plenty of chin to take it on. And, so far, Don has been taking it.

After he won the title at Forest Hills last September, McNeill went on a long good-will tour to South America. Coming on top of a big season, that almost was too much for him, and as a result he has been getting nothing but beatings since then.

When he stepped into semi-finals of the eastern grass court tourney yesterday, McNeill went a long way toward disproving that contention, and he gets another and better chance when he plays Frank Kovacs today.

In overwhelming young William Talbert of Cincinnati, 7-5, 6-3, McNeill looked like the lanky Oklahoman who swept through the nationals last fall.

SPORTS GOSSIP

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
(Pinch-Hitting for Eddie Brietz)

NEW YORK — (The Special News Service) — Like a few autumn breezes to cool you off these hot days? Well, Lt. Charles A. Kenny writes from Fort Bliss, Texas, that the 260th coast artillery football team started practice July 23 with 188 candidates. . . . Harvard's gridiron cabinet paid a two-hour visit to Boston College the other day, and just to prove the Harvards weren't going too democratic, Coach Dick Harlow claimed he had come to look over the ferns on an estate B. C. has acquired . . . still Denny Myers, the B. C. coach, assigned an assistant to keep an eye on his star, Gil Bouley, while Harlow was around.

* * *

MANN OF HIS WORD.

Earl Mann told Atlanta sportswriters he was going to sell Lester Burge for $1,000 a home run. Then he turned around and collected $50,000 from the Dodgers for Lester and Pitcher Bob Chipman, which is coming pretty close, for Burge had 34 homers to his credit when the deal was made.

* * *

SPORTS COCKTAIL.

The daily double at Dade park yesterday paid $1,118.60 for $2. . . . Those horses weren't dade, just a couple of sleepers. . . . Glenn O. Sherwood, sports editor of the Elmira (N. Y.) Advertiser, had his 19-year attendance record at Eastern league games broken the other night when he had to quit the press box and enter a hospital because of a misbehaving appendix. . . . Leo Durocher must have been asking for trouble when he remarked "we only gotta play Boston and the Phils for a while." As Brooklyn manager he ought to know what happened when Billy Terry asked if the Dodgers were in the league. . . . Bobby Feller tossed off $2,000 as easily as he tossed a fast one when he refused to endorse a cigarette just because he doesn't smoke.

Girls' Joust Gets Started

Springfield Upsets Youngstown Champs.

YOUNGSTOWN —(AP)— Staging a brilliant comeback to wipe out a 5-0 deficit, the Springfield Fink & Heine Packers defeated Warren Leeds Jewelers, Youngstown district champions, 8-5, in the feature game of the opening round of the Ohio women's softball tournament here last night.

Springfield got three runs in the fourth, three in the fifth, and two in the sixth to win. McKenzie's homer featured for the winners along with Doughman's five-hit twirling.

The Columbus J & K Shoes made good use of 12 hits and five opponents' errors to swamp Massillon Crystal Lake, 21-9. Harmon got three hits for the winners.

Youngstown Ritz Bar whipped Cuyahoga Falls Fair Bond Oil, 4-3.

The tournament continues today and Sunday.

District Tourney Bookings Changed

Drawings for the district softball tourney at Ashland, announced today by Commissioner Carl W. Wagner, showed changes in the booking affecting two Mansfield clubs.

Yuncker Sports will meet Elyria, last year's runner-up. Monday at 9 p. m., while the Athletic Supplies will tangle Wednesday at 9 p. m., with the Lorain county runner-up.

Bookings for the two teams were reversed in previously announced schedules.

Braves Schedule Twin Bill

Meet Findlay In Two Games; Lose to Birds.

MANSFIELD BRAVES return home tonight for a double-header with Findlay at the Fairground, after dropping a 5 to 2 decision at Fostoria last night.

The Fostoria loss dropped the Braves back to six games behind the league leading Fremont Green Sox who defeated Findlay 8 to 3.

* * *

Mansfield remained in second place in the Ohio State league standings by five percentage points over Fostoria, although the two teams are virtually tied at six games out of first place.

* * *

Hurlers Roy for Fostoria and Chuck Byers for Mansfield were touched evenly in hits, with each club collecting 11 blows, but Roy managed to scatter his with the exception of the fourth inning when the Braves bunched enough for their two runs.

Fostoria picked up a run in the first and won the game with two runs in the last of the fourth, adding two more in the eighth for good measure.

* * *

Manager Alex Clowson and Bill Reinka led the Mansfield attack, each getting a double and single, while Tim Mangan also came through with two hits.

* * *

Jim Coleman probably will be called on to hurl the first game tonight for the Braves at 7 o'clock, and Bob Kuzava is slated to take the hill in the seven-inning afterpiece.

Mt. Gilead Has National Shoot

MT. GILEAD, O.—(AP)—For the first time, marksmen will go after national records at the Ohio team rifle championship at the state range here Sunday.

* * *

The meet has been registered with the National Rifle association, and any new marks turned in by the 25 to 30 competing teams will be recorded as official. All previous shoots were unregistered, and record-breaking performances went without recognition.

* * *

Dayton's rifle and revolver club will defend its title as the marksmen fire twice over the Dewar course, once with optional sights and once with metallic sights. League championships will be shot off with the Cuyahoga Civilian Marksmen's association scheduled to defend its 1940 title.

Grasshoppers which periodically ravage South Dakota's farmlands, cause little damage to the Aberdeen region, because a warm welcome has been extended to the Franklin gull. The Sand Lake game refuge, near there, is the home of several hundred thousand of the species, which feeds almost exclusively on grasshoppers.

A small spinner and fly combination makes an excellent lure for almost any fresh water fish. It is especially good for bluegills and crappies, when they are found near the shore. The spinner should be a small trout size, and the fly size No. 8, on ringed hooks.

It's hard to believe, but a colony of beavers is living within a short distance of Cleveland. On the Mather estate, east of the city, three beavers were liberated, two males, one female. The males fought it out and the winner with Mrs. Beaver, has set up housekeeping on the estate lake. The other male retired some distance down the stream and built himself a dam nearly 50 feet long, creating a nice pond behind it.

Crippled Youth Saves Two Boys From Drowning

KALISPELL, Mont. —(INS)— Dean Logan, 17-year-old graduating senior at Kalispell high school, is a true but no longer an unsung hero today.

Dean refused to tell anybody that, despite a crippled arm, he saved two 13-year-old boys from drowning in the icy Flathead river on a recent Sunday. Instead, he changed his clothes and went right on to baccalaureate services.

But the boys, Donald Mathieson and Leo Kizer, were not silent about it. They revealed how Logan swam to their rescue when a raft on which they were playing was caught by a swift current and plunged into the water just above the Kalispell rapids. Logan swam to a sand bar and, as the raft shot by, urged the boys to jump. They held on to him and he fought his way to shore with his burden.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE—The Village Blacksheep. By Harold Gray

No! No! I did not mean you are not a true Indian- I merely meant to test you---you would not slaughter one who comes as friend-
Why not? The scalp of a "friend" does not talk out of turn-
I regret my thoughtless word- you are a warrior,- you are also a stranger--come, let us talk as friends-
Talk is cheap--I, Chief Peeping Tom, speak with deeds-
Of course--so perhaps you would wish to come with medicine man to my village--to join in our games---such as this-
Ugh! I, a chief, but seldom play at games- still, you wish to test me-
'Tis well--'twill pass the time and may prove amusing- let us hope your tribe possesses better marksmen than you--
Ugh! A lucky cast! ????

Now I'll phone-see if that old lawyer's gone!
Sure, sure, I get it
8-9
Hel-lo! Is that-ah-Colonel Carey's office? Why, ah-is the Colonel in? This is Appleby, Horace Appleby!
No, Mr. Appleby, Colonel Carey had to make a short trip out of town. He'll be back tomorrow. He said to tell you it would be in plenty of time to take up the option!
Well, boys, everything's chicken! Carey's gone and the girl fell for the impersonation hook, line and sinker!

What did he say? Go on- tell me all about it, Uncle Rudy!
Say, what's this? Why all the interest? You haven't lost your heart to him by any chance?
Don't be absurd, Uncle Rudy, I wouldn't care if I never saw him again- but go on- tell me what he said
He started to tell me something that I know would be very interesting to you when somebody came along and changed the conversation

BRINGING UP FATHER— By George McManus

Well-I've got to get back to town- but how kin I convince Maggie we should leave this farm-life?
Gracious-look at that- what is that hideous-looking animal in front of the door?
Oh-that's a porcupine- there's a lot of 'em around here-
EEK!
But the farmer next door said not to worry about them- as the rats in this house will keep 'em out-
Did you tell Ben to have the car all ready to leave immediately?
You bet I did-

He's snortin' mad over th' ride you gave him. So you'd better keep a half-mile of grazing land between you and his six-shooter!
Huh?
And Robin bruises so easily-

Good heavens, Mrs. Gump- don't take on so- your mascara'll run!
The brute! After four hours in this heat getting my new hair-do, he didn't even notice it!!
I'm sorry, min darling- I wouldn't hurt my little pet's feelings for worlds- I love you just the same even if your hair is dishevelled
I suppose I should have had my hair dyed blond to make you notice!
-That reminds me of the surprise I have for you-
I invited our neighbors over to dinner tonight-
You, what?

I said, get moving!
But, mister, I'm waiting for a passenger who just went into that building. I've got a dollar twenty cents on the meter.

WANTED FOLKS WHO NEED $20 TO $500 TO INVESTIGATE OUR LOAN PLAN

Rates are not the same at all loan companies. We publish our payments and our rate of charge to help you shop for a loan.

Loans made three ways: (1) on signature; (2) on car; (3) on furniture. No endorsers. Friends or relatives are not told. Fair treatment in case of sickness or unemployment. Payments include charges of 2% monthly on balances of $300 or less and ½% monthly or any remainder—the same rate to everyone. Nothing else to pay. To apply—phone, write or visit office. Money ready next day—or sooner if necessary.

MIXED PRICES PREDOMINATE IN STOCK LIST

New High Level Reached In Production of Steel, Report Shows.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Slightly mixed prices predominated in today's early stock market proceedings.

Up fractionally at a quiet opening were Boeing, Phelps Dodge and American Telephone. In arrears Bethlehem Steel, and International Harvester.

In the search for market trend clues, notice was taken of the American Iron and Steel institute's compilation disclosing production of steel ingots for the first seven months of this year reached the record-breaking level of 47,730,225 tons.

Helpful was the hope expressed by O. P. M. Director Knudsen that 50 per cent of the productive capacity planned for defense would be in operation by Jan. 1 and 100 per cent by next summer or fall.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, August 10.

SUNDAY'S horoscope is a moderately propitious and encouraging one, with the affairs of the clergy, elders, workers and students under fortunate vibrations for success. Profound reflection as well as explorations into the higher realms of thought and speculation—scientific, philosophical or occult—would be profitable, also romantic yearnings may be indulged. But in all keep alert to intrigue, duplicity, curious or unwholesome indulgence or snares.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of moderate success and enjoyment, under the spur of elders, relatives, of property interests or sound business enterprise. This latter may respond to factors of the new and speculative, into which advanced ideas and original propositions may hold the weight of serious study and practical bases. But in all affairs, especially in private associations, be vigilant to snares and pitfalls.

A child born on this day should be studious, practical and sound, although having unusual talents, ideas or ideals. All should combine for its success and happiness.

For Monday, August 11.

Monday's astrological forecast shows unusual activity imbued with much thought and backed up by high purpose and incentive. It may lead to cultural or philosophical heights, as to do with writings, speech, publicity or important promotions calling for intelligence as well as sound logic.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate an unusually active and eventful year in which important plans and purpose are skillfully promoted. The mind is keen, alert, sound and logical as well, to put over the ambitions, which may demand change, travel, communications, much writing or speech. This concentration of faculties should embrace public or community welfare.

A child born on this day should be greatly talented, versatile and public spirited.

Huge N. Orleans Airport Now In Blueprint Stage

NEW ORLEANS — (INS) — New Orleans airport, one of the greatest bases for land and sea planes in the country, will be dwarfed if a new and much talked-of project goes through as planned.

Raymond H. Saal, superintendent of municipal airports, spoke of runways two miles long on a 1900-acre tract to be converted into a monster airport in the vicinity of New Orleans. The runway needs must be of such length to accommodate huge 80-ton flying fortresses, Saal said.

He declined to divulge the location of the base. City officials are negotiating with defense representatives in Washington for appropriations, Saal said.

He parcelled out 1500 acres of the field "for landing purposes," 100 acres for buildings, and left 300 acres yet to be utilized. The New Orleans airport is a mere 302-acre lot.

U. S. PREPARES TO TAKE OVER KEARNEY YARDS

Report Action Will Be Taken Next Week; Navy to Assume Control.

rines probably would act as troops in taking physical possession.

It was understood the strikers would be asked to return to their jobs under assurances that their membership demands would be met.

Officials said there would be no move toward seizure over the week-end in order to give the company an 11th hour opportunity to accept the board's recommendations.

Timken Strikers Hold Out for Pay Raise

CANTON—(INS)—Approximately 100 members of the carburizing department of the Timken Roller Bearing plant today remained on strike over their demands for a wage increase of five cents an hours in scales ranging from 72½ to 82 cents.

The walkout was discussed last night at a mass meeting of Steel Workers Organizing Committee (CIO) members.

Carpenters Back on Job at Plum Brook

SANDUSKY—(INS)—Officials of the Plum Brook ordnance plant today announced that 410 out of close to 700 carpenters who went out on strike a week ago for pay raises were back on the job, with a full force expected by Monday.

The carpenters, members of the Sandusky AFL local, demanded $1.37½ an hour, as compared with the $1.12½ they are getting. The demands will be submitted to the defense mediation board in Washington.

Truck Drivers Agree To Strike

RAVENNA — (INS) — Approximately 625 members of the Portage county Truck Drivers union (A. F. of L.) today agreed to strike within 10 days if demands for a 35-cent hourly wage increase for 12 drivers at the Ravenna arsenal are not met.

Twelve drivers of Diesel dirt haulers are seeking an increase of from 85 cents to $1.20 an hour.

Aircraft Workers Picket Plane Plant

CALDWELL, N. J. — (UP) — A walkout of more than 300 workers in the propeller and hub departments of Curtiss-Wright propeller division became a bona fide strike today when mass picketing was begun at all the plant's entrances.

The strikers were members of the Aircraft lodge, No. 703 (AFL) which was defeated last Thursday by Propeller-Craft, Inc., an independent union, in a national labor relations board election to determine a collective bargaining agent.

The strikers walked out yesterday, announcing a "departmental work stoppage to protest against wage discrimination."

Chinese Puppet Leader Boasts Of Huge Army

PEKING, China—(INS)—Revelation for the first time of the strength of the new Chinese army formed under Japanese auspices in occupied China has been made by Wang Ching-wei, President of the rebel National Government of China from Nanking.

According to Wang Ching-wei his new army totals 200,000 troops comprising 20 divisions, six independent brigades, three independent regiments and thousands of armed police scattered throughout the provinces of China under Japanese military occupation and working for the Japanese sponsored rebel regime.

In North China, according to Wang Ching-wei there are stationed seven army corps of 50,000 men, which are responsible for suppression of bandits and communists, as the Japanese and their supported Chinese leaders call the loyal Chinese troops and armed guerrilla bands engaged against the Japanese invaders.

ARREST 9 IN LIQUOR RAIDS

State Agents and Police Make Round-up of Spots Selling Liquor After Hours.

and Sylvesta Ford, $200 and costs. Others fined, after pleas of guilty, included: Edna Warren, $100 and costs; Staccy, $200 and costs; Boskov, $200 and costs; and George, $100 and costs.

The six places entered in the raids were inspected by the agents and police who held search warrants. Arrests were made upon discovery of liquor on the premises.

Members of the Mansfield department had been walking beats in the northeast section of the city for the past several days, on special order. Police Chief Meade K. Bates, who took part in the raids, said, however, that the men were patrolling the beats because of the many reports of persons being assaulted on the street recently.

About seven members of the Mansfield department aided the agents in making raids, Bates said.

The state liquor board also announced today that the Marine Corps league, Highland Detachment, of Mansfield, operators of the Gourmet Inn, located on Route 30-S, had been ordered to appear before the board Wednesday on charges of violating department regulations.

Employes at the club said that they were unaware of any violation or of any order for their appearance in Columbus.

LET'S PAY SOME ATTENTION TO HIM-ER-JUST TO MAKE A TRUTH-TELLER OUT OF MAC
RUSS COESTOVER
THERE'S TILLIE SAYING GOOD-BYE TO ANOTHER GUY- I'LL LET HER KNOW I'M WISE TO HER TRYING TO MAKE ME JEALOUS AGAIN, HUH?
GRRRR
WHY, MAC
85
WHY SHOULD I TRY TO DO THAT?—
TRYING TO MAKE YOU JEALOUS WOULD BE LIKE TRYING TO MAKE SANTA CLAUS GENEROUS
RUSS COESTOVER
TILLIE SAYS TRYING TO MAKE ME JEALOUS IS LIKE TRYING TO MAKE SANTA CLAUS GENEROUS—I'LL GET EVEN TRYING TO MAKE SANTA CLAUS GENEROUS IS LIKE TRYING TO MAKE YOU FICKLE
86
YOU OUGHT TO KNOW— YOUR BEHAVIOR'S THE KIND THAT MAKES GIRLS FICKLE
WERE YOU SAYING SOMETHING, MAC?
I SAID IT'S A NICE AFTERNOON
RUSS COESTOVER

I CAN TELL BY MAC'S ACTIONS THAT HE'S GETTING A GIRL TO MAKE YOU JEALOUS, TILLIE
I EXPECTED THAT, BUBBLES
BOY— HE SURE PICKED A CUTE ONE
87
OH, HOW CAN I KEEP FROM SHOWING JEALOUSY WHEN THEY COME NEAR?
LOOKING AT HER OWN FEET! I CAN KEEP FROM SHOWING JEALOUSY, BUT HOW CAN I KEEP FROM LAUGHING?
GRRR
RUSS COESTOVER
POOR MAC' TRYING TO MAKE ME JEALOUS AND HE GETS A GIRL WHO LOOKS AT HER OWN FEET WHEN SHE DANCES SAY, WHAT'S THE IDEA OF LOOKING AT YOUR FEET?
OH, THE LAST MAN I DANCED WITH STEPPED ON THEM
88
OH, I'M SORRY
I UNDERSTAND THAT MAN! HE WAS STEPPING ON YOURS IN SELF-DEFENSE
THIS IS RICH. NOW HE'S TRYING TO GET RID OF HER
RUSS COESTOVER
MAC TELLS HER THAT FELLOW MUST HAVE STEPPED ON HER FEET IN SELF-DEFENSE— THAT OUGHT TO GET RID OF HER
BUT SHE DIDN'T SAY A WORD— OH, HERE THEY COME AGAIN
OH, I JUST GOT THE POINT OF WHAT YOU SAID— OH, THAT'S OUTRAGEOUSLY FUNNY— HEH—HEH— HEH
HO' HO' MAC GOT THAT GIRL TO MAKE ME JEALOUS, NOW HE WISHES HE WERE RID OF HER WITH A CACKLE LIKE THAT I SHOULD THINK HE WOULD HEH HEH HEH HEH HEH

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

HONEST, ZERO - I'M KINDA GETTIN' THE WIM-WAMS - BEING RICH AIN'T AS MUCH FUN AS LOTSA FOLKS THINK IT IS
I OUGHT TO BE TERRIBLE HAPPY, LIVING HERE IN CAPTAIN ROBERT'S SWELL HOUSE - I GUESS I GOT MORE CLOTHES THAN ANY KID IN THE WHOLE WORLD —
ALL KINDS OF SERVANTS TO WAIT ON ME - IF I WANNA DRINK OF WATER, I JUST RING FOR A SERVANT TO BRING IT TO ME -
DARRELL McCLURE
'CAUSE IF I GET A DRINK FOR MYSELF - THE SERVANTS ACT KINDA MAD, 'CAUSE THEY'RE GETTING PAID FOR BRINGIN' ME WHAT I WANT - AN' THEY KNOW IF RICH FOLKS DIDN'T LET THE SERVANTS DO THINGS FOR THEM, THEY WOULDN'T NEED ANY SERVANTS AT ALL!
GOOD MORNIN' - WHAT A SWELL DAY! SO NICE AN' — HONEST ZERO - SOMETHIN' MUST BE THE MATTER WITH ME - ALL THE KIDS IN TOWN USED TO TREAT ME GRAND —
NOW, WHEN I SAY, "HELLO," THEY LOOK THE OTHER WAY AND PRETEND I'M NOT THERE AT ALL - BUT THEY KNOW I AM AN' THEY KNOW I KNOW THEY'RE JUST PRETENDING THEY DON'T HEAR ME SAY, "HELLO"!
DARRELL McCLURE
EVEN THE SERVANTS' KIDS KEEP TREATIN' ME AWFUL POLITE - WHEN I COME WHERE THEY ARE THEY ALL STOP HOLLERIN' UNTIL I GO 'WAY - THEN THEY START HOLLERIN' AN' PLAYIN' AGAIN!
NOW, NOW, YOUNGSTER - KEEP YOUR CHIN UP - YOU MUSTN'T GET SO DOWN-HEARTED ON ACCOUNT OF A MITE OF STORMY WEATHER
BUT HONEST, CAPTAIN EZRA, I DIDN'T DO NOTHIN' - I JUST WENT TO VISIT AT CAPTAIN SETH'S HOUSE - YOU KNOW ALL HIS KIDS, THE WHOLE FOURTEEN OF 'EM USED TO LIKE ME AN' TREAT ME SWELL -
BUT WHEN I GOT TO CAPTAIN SETH'S HOUSE, MRS. CAPTAIN SETH WAS TERRIBLE POLITE, BUT SHE SAID ALL THE KIDS WAS BUSY WORKIN' - AN' WHEN I TOLD HER I HAD A WHOLE BASKET OF FRUIT AN' CANDY —
DARRELL McCLURE
MRS. SETH SEZ I WAS VERY KIND AN' CHARITABLE, BUT HER CHILDREN HAD ALL THE FRUIT AN' CANDY THEY NEEDED - AN' SHE SAID I MUST COME AN' VISIT THEM AGAIN SOME TIME - AN' - AN' —
NOW, HONEY - PLEASE DON'T CRY - AN' I'LL MAKE YOU A NICE DISH OF FISH CHOWDER
TELL ME INSTANTLY WHAT HAPPENED TO ANNOY BABA - MY PRECIOUS LITTLE DARLING IS TREMBLING LIKE A LEAF - YOU KNOW HOW VERY SENSITIVE HE IS!
I AM SORRY, MADAME - MISS ANNIE WAS IN THE GARDEN WITH HER DOG, ZERO, AND — GREAT HEAVENS! YOU DON'T MEAN YOU PERMITTED BABA TO GET A GLIMPSE OF THAT COMMON DOG?!?
I HAVE REPEATEDLY WARNED YOU - BABA'S ROYAL BREEDING MAKES HIM ALLERGIC TO COMMON DOGS - ONE LOOK AT A MONGREL AND BABA CHANGES FROM A GENTLE LITTLE LAMB INTO A VERITABLE MONSTER - READY TO REND AND DESTROY THE UNIVERSE!!
HONEST, ZERO, I'M SORRY OUR WALK WAS SPOILED - BUT MRS. ROBERT'S DOG IS VERY 'RISTOCRATIC - HE DON'T LIKE ANY DOG BUT HIMSELF — IT SOUNDS GOOFY, BUT IF BABA EVEN SEES A COMMON DOG, IT MAKES HIM GET TERRIBLE SICK!
YES, SIR - SOME FOLKS HAVE ALL THE LUCK - YOU TAKE THAT LITTLE ROONEY GIRL, FOR INSTANCE - A HOMELESS ORPHAN - NO FOLKS - NO MONEY - AND LOOK AT HER NOW - — LIVING THE LIFE OF REILLY - A MEMBER OF A MILLIONAIRE'S FAMILY - SERVANTS TO WAIT ON HER - SHE HAS EVERYTHING — THAT'S WHAT I CALL LUCK!!
NO, PETE - YOU'RE WRONG - THE KID HAS FINE CLOTHES - FINE FOOD - SERVANTS TO WAIT ON HER - BUT SHE HASN'T ANYONE WHO REALLY CARES IF SHE LIVES OR DIES - SHE IS MIGHTY LONESOME - NO FRIENDS, EXCEPTIN' HER DOG
MY GOODNESS GRACIOUS, ZERO - DID YOU HEAR WHAT THAT MAN SAID 'BOUT MY BEIN' LONESOME? HE WAS RIGHT - BUT I DON'T KNOW HOW HE GUESSED I WAS LONESOME, 'CAUSE I TRY TO SMILE AN' LOOK HAPPY ALL THE TIME
DARRELL McCLURE
YOU KNOW, ZERO, I GUESS I'M GETTIN' KINDA GOOFY — HERE I AM ALL DRESSED UP TO GO SWIMMIN' IN THIS WONDERFUL SWIMMIN'-POOL — AN' —
INSTEAD OF SWIMMIN', I JUST KEEP SITTIN' HERE, WISHIN' I WAS 'WAY OUT IN THE COUNTRY BESIDE A LITTLE BROOK ALL FULL OF STONES AN' THINGS - WHERE THE WATER AIN'T CHANGED EVERY HOUR
NOW IT'S TIME FOR ME TO CHANGE MY DRESS AN' GET READY FOR LUNCH - I MEAN LUNCHEON - AN' I'M NOT HUNGRY - I KNOW THE FOOD WILL BE NICE - ALL FULL OF FANCY VITAMINS - SOLID SILVER KNIVES AN' FORKS - EVERYTHING GRAND -
DARRELL McCLURE
AN' I KEEP WISHIN' I COULD HAVE A HOT DOG WITH PLENTY OF MUSTARD AN' A BOTTLE OF POP - I KNOW IT SOUNDS GOOFY AN' IT IS GOOFY - BUT YOU CAN'T HELP THINKIN' WHAT YOU THINK!

POLLY AND HER PALS

POLLY! DO YOU REMEMBER BEN BARKER ?
YES, MONA! HE WAS ONE OF MY BEAUS WHEN I WAS IN PIGTAILS!
WELL, HE'S COMING BACK FROM SOUTH AMERICA FOR A VISIT.
REALLY--- I HAD NO IDEA YOU KNEW BEN! DID YOU GET A CARD FROM HIM ?
NO--- YOU DID!
SO YOUR CHILDHOOD BEAU IS COMING BACK FROM SOUTH AMERICA FOR A VISIT
YES! SOUNDS FUNNY, BUT WHEN WE WERE KIDS WE SOLEMNLY PLANNED TO BE MARRIED.
WHAT HAPPENED TO BREAK IT UP?
OH! IT WAS THE FAULT OF THE GIRL NEXT DOOR!
HOW IS THAT? WAS SHE PRETTY?
NO--- BUT SHE HAD A BICYCLE AND I DIDN'T!
YOU SAY BEN IS ARRIVING NEXT WEEK?
YES.. AND I'M TO MEET HIM AT THE TRAIN
BUT YOU HAVEN'T SEEN HIM SINCE YOU WERE SIXTEEN YEARS OLD.
HOW WILL YOU KNOW HIM? HE'S PROBABLY CHANGED A LOT WITH THE PASSING OF YEARS.
IN THAT CASE I'LL WAIT ON THE STATION PLATFORM AND LET HIM RECOGNIZE ME.
I HAVEN'T CHANGED A BIT!
YES, MA, BEN IS ARRIVING NEXT WEEK AND I'M SCARED STIFF
DON'T BE FOOLISH. YUH WERE ONLY KIDS WHEN HE PROPOSED!
YES, BUT HE SAID OUR LOVE WOULD LIVE FOREVER!
OH, HE'S PROB'LY HAD A DOZEN ROMANCES SINCE THEN, JESS TH' SAME AS YUH HAVE!
HUMPH! I SUPPOSE HE HAS--- THE CAD!
YOU WANT ME TO GO ALONG WHEN YOU MEET BEN AT THE TRAIN ?
YES--AND I WANT YOU TO MAKE UP TO HIM
YOU SEE--I'M AFRAID HE HASN'T FORGOTTEN I WAS HIS CHILDHOOD SWEETHEART.
I'LL DO IT AS A FAVOR, BUT IF HE'S A BORE-- YOU'LL BE SORRY FOR PASSING HIM OFF ON ME
I'LL BE EVEN MORE SORRY--- IF HE ISN'T!
BEN'S CARD SAID HE WOULD ARRIVE ON THE "LIMITED"
GOSH, IT'S OVERDUE AND THERE ISN'T A TRAIN IN SIGHT.
EAST BOUND
THEN THE "LIMITED" WILL BE QUITE LATE?
YES--IT'S TH' FUST TIME IT'S BIN LATE IN SEVEN YEARS
HUMPH-- DOESN'T SURPRISE ME----
--BEN WAS NEVER ON TIME FOR A DATE!

SECRET AGENT X-9

"LADY" HAS GONE TO REPORT TO HER SUPERIOR... THE SUBMARINE CAPTAIN SAID A MAN, NAMED TOBIE, WOULD HELP ME FIND WHERE THE FOREIGN SECRET COPS ARE HOLDING "HILARY"....
...BUT WHERE DO I LOCATE THIS GUY, TOBIE? HE'S SUPPOSED TO BE WELL-KNOWN, ACCORDING TO THE "SUB" CAPTAIN... HERE COMES A MAILMAN — LUCKY FOR ME I DID MY HOME-WORK IN FOREIGN LANGUAGES!
ACH! MR. TOBIE? EFFRYONE KNOWS HIM... OUR HIGHEST OFFICIALS SIT FOR HIM! YOU ARE MAYBE A STRANGER HERE?
YES — ON MY HOLIDAYS!
THIS IS HIS STUDIO... THE FINEST IN THE LAND! OUR LEADER, HIMSELF, COMES TO TOBIE FOR BICTURES THAT THE WHOLE WORLD SEES! I AM AFRAID MR. TOBIE HAS NO TIME FOR YOU, YOUNG MAN!
MEL GRAFF
SO TOBIE IS THE OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPHER FOR ALL THE BRASS HATS IN THIS REGIME! HE'S SUPPOSED TO HAVE UNDERGROUND CONNECTIONS TO PUT ME ON THE TRAIL OF "HILARY".... I WONDER —
YOU WISH TO SEE MR. TOBIE? IS HE EXPECTING YOU?
I THINK HE IS!
8-5
IT IS AFTER HOURS.. I DOUBT IF MR. TOBIE WILL SEE YOU... HOWEVER, I SHALL SPEAK TO HIM!
MAN WAITING OUTSIDE TO SEE YOU... SAYS YOU MAY BE EXPECTING HIM — I THINK HE IS AN AMERICAN!
AN AMERICAN? YES — SEND HIM IN!
MEL GRAFF
QUEER SET-UP... TOBIE, THE OFFICIAL PHOTOGRAPHER FOR THE POLITICAL AND ARMY BIG-WHIGS OF THIS REGIME — ALSO REPUTED TO BE DIRECTING AN UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT — WONDER IF HE'LL SEE ME...
MR. TOBIE HAS A FEW MINUTES TO SPARE... WILL YOU STEP INSIDE, PLEASE?
THANK YOU!
YOU WISH TO SIT FOR A PORTRAIT? AS YOU KNOW, I PHOTOGRAPH BY APPOINTMENT ONLY...
I WAS UNDER THE IMPRESSION THAT I DID HAVE AN APPOINTMENT!
SO? I AM CURIOUS AS TO WHO SENT YOU TO ME.
SUBMARINE CAPTAIN V-73!
MEL GRAFF
6-6
YOUR CREDENTIALS TALLY WITH THE INFORMATION ALREADY IN MY HANDS! I WILL COOPERATE WITH YOU, AS FAR AS POSSIBLE, IN GETTING THE ECONOMIC ADVISER, "HILARY," BACK TO AMERICA!
GOOD!
OUR UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT IS MORE POWERFUL THAN IS SUSPECTED BY THE OUTSIDE WORLD! WE SHALL WORK OUT A MEANS OF GETTING TO "HILARY"!
WHERE IS HE NOW?
AT STAFF HEADQUARTERS OF THE SECRET POLICE... HE IS EXTREMELY WELL-GUARDED! THEY ARE AWAITING THE ARRIVAL OF "LADY."
SHE'S ON HER WAY THERE NOW!
AS YET, NO ACTION HAS BEEN TAKEN TO FORCE OR TRICK HIM INTO SURRENDERING THE FOREIGN GOVERNMENT FUNDS HE HAS SECRETLY BANKED!
THAT GIVES US A LITTLE TIME! LISTEN — I HAVE A PLAN!
WHAT IS YOUR PLAN FOR WRESTING "HILARY" AWAY FROM OUR SECRET POLICE, X9? THE RESOURCES OF MY CONNECTIONS ARE AT YOUR DISPOSAL!
OKAY! LISTEN —
I WANT YOU TO PRESENT ME TO THE SECRET POLICE AS A NOTORIOUS GANGSTER WITH A POLICE RECORD FOR CHECK-RAISING AND FORGERY! I'LL EXPLAIN —
"HILARY" SECRETLY BANKED MILLIONS OF DOLLARS WHEN HE WAS ECONOMIC ADVISER TO ONE OF THE FALLEN COUNTRIES, EXPECTING TO RETURN IT LATER... THE SECRET POLICE NOW WANT TO GRAB THIS MONEY, BUT "HILARY" WON'T SIGN —
YOUR JOB IS TO BOOST ME AS THE GUY WHO CAN DUPLICATE HIS SIGNATURE... AFTER I GET TO "HILARY", I'LL FIGURE SOME WAY TO ESCAPE WITH HIM!
HM-M...
FOR THE PURPOSE OF GETTING "HILARY" AWAY FROM THE SECRET POLICE, YOU ARE GOING TO POSE AS AN AMERICAN GANGSTER? IS IT POSSIBLE YOU HAVE ALREADY DONNED YOUR DISGUISE?
SURE! ANYTHING WRONG?
YOU APPEAR QUITE RESPECTABLE!
NATURALLY! I'M REPRESENTING THE HIGHEST ARM OF THE CRIMINAL PROFESSION — THE FORGER! HE IS AN ARTIST... MAKES MONEY WITH THE STROKE OF A PEN!
MY OFFICIAL NAME WILL BE "JACK, THE PENMAN." MY REPUTATION WAS MADE BY FORGING SIGNATURES!
BUT ARE YOU NOT BEING RASH? THE SECRET POLICE WILL PUT YOU TO THE TEST!
THEY WILL EXPECT YOU TO DUPLICATE "HILARY'S" SIGNATURE. IF YOU FAIL — ?
IF EVERYTHING GOES AS I PLAN, THEY'LL NEVER GET THAT FAR! I'LL ALREADY BE OUT OF THIS COUNTRY — WITH "HILARY"!

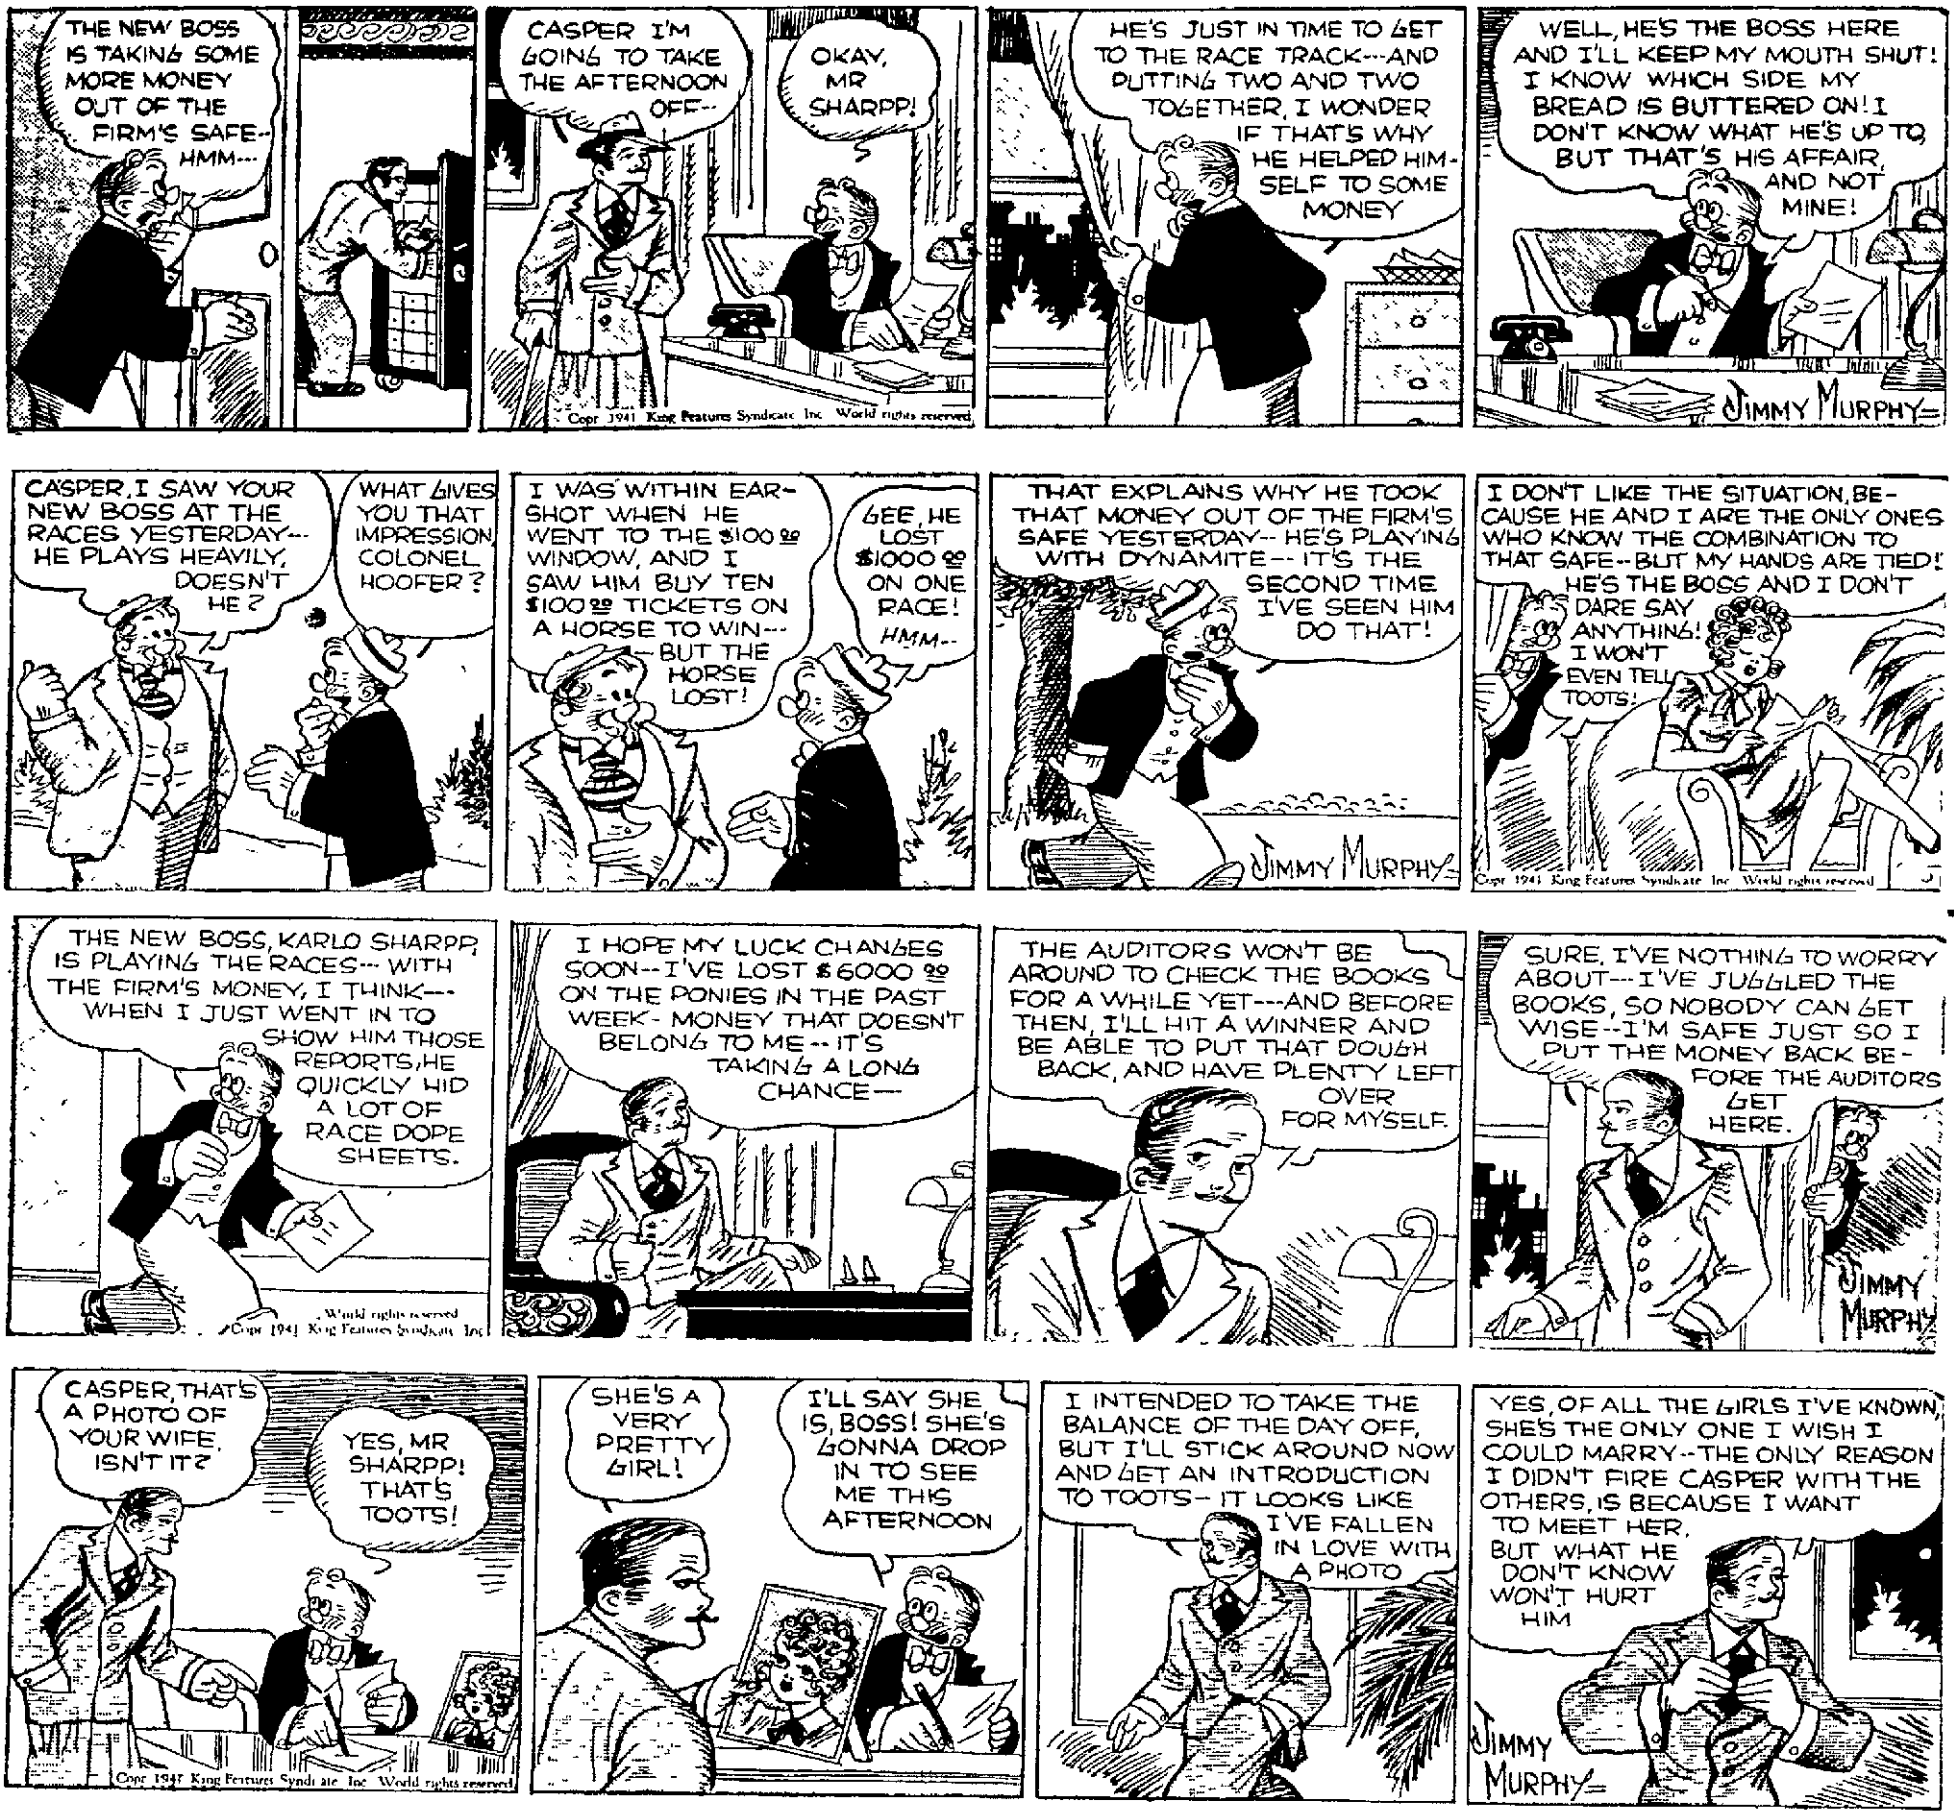
TOOTS AND CASPER



THE NEW BOSS IS TAKING SOME MORE MONEY OUT OF THE FIRM'S SAFE-- HMM---
CASPER I'M GOING TO TAKE THE AFTERNOON OFF-- OKAY, MR SHARPP!
Copr 1941 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved
HE'S JUST IN TIME TO GET TO THE RACE TRACK---AND PUTTING TWO AND TWO TOGETHER, I WONDER IF THAT'S WHY HE HELPED HIMSELF TO SOME MONEY
WELL, HE'S THE BOSS HERE AND I'LL KEEP MY MOUTH SHUT! I KNOW WHICH SIDE MY BREAD IS BUTTERED ON! I DON'T KNOW WHAT HE'S UP TO, BUT THAT'S HIS AFFAIR, AND NOT MINE!
JIMMY MURPHY
CASPER, I SAW YOUR NEW BOSS AT THE RACES YESTERDAY-- HE PLAYS HEAVILY, DOESN'T HE?
WHAT GIVES YOU THAT IMPRESSION, COLONEL HOOFER?
I WAS WITHIN EARSHOT WHEN HE WENT TO THE $100 00 WINDOW, AND I SAW HIM BUY TEN $100 00 TICKETS ON A HORSE TO WIN--- BUT THE HORSE LOST!
GEE, HE LOST $1000 00 ON ONE RACE! HMM--
THAT EXPLAINS WHY HE TOOK THAT MONEY OUT OF THE FIRM'S SAFE YESTERDAY-- HE'S PLAYING WITH DYNAMITE-- IT'S THE SECOND TIME I'VE SEEN HIM DO THAT!
JIMMY MURPHY
I DON'T LIKE THE SITUATION, BECAUSE HE AND I ARE THE ONLY ONES WHO KNOW THE COMBINATION TO THAT SAFE--BUT MY HANDS ARE TIED! HE'S THE BOSS AND I DON'T DARE SAY ANYTHING! I WON'T EVEN TELL TOOTS!
Copr 1941 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved
THE NEW BOSS, KARLO SHARPP, IS PLAYING THE RACES--- WITH THE FIRM'S MONEY, I THINK--- WHEN I JUST WENT IN TO SHOW HIM THOSE REPORTS, HE QUICKLY HID A LOT OF RACE DOPE SHEETS.
World rights reserved Copr 1941 King Features Syndicate Inc
I HOPE MY LUCK CHANGES SOON--I'VE LOST $6000 00 ON THE PONIES IN THE PAST WEEK- MONEY THAT DOESN'T BELONG TO ME -- IT'S TAKING A LONG CHANCE---
THE AUDITORS WON'T BE AROUND TO CHECK THE BOOKS FOR A WHILE YET---AND BEFORE THEN, I'LL HIT A WINNER AND BE ABLE TO PUT THAT DOUGH BACK, AND HAVE PLENTY LEFT OVER FOR MYSELF.
SURE, I'VE NOTHING TO WORRY ABOUT--- I'VE JUGGLED THE BOOKS, SO NOBODY CAN GET WISE--I'M SAFE JUST SO I PUT THE MONEY BACK BEFORE THE AUDITORS GET HERE.
JIMMY MURPHY
CASPER, THAT'S A PHOTO OF YOUR WIFE, ISN'T IT?
YES, MR SHARPP! THAT'S TOOTS!
Copr 1941 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved
SHE'S A VERY PRETTY GIRL!
I'LL SAY SHE IS, BOSS! SHE'S GONNA DROP IN TO SEE ME THIS AFTERNOON
I INTENDED TO TAKE THE BALANCE OF THE DAY OFF, BUT I'LL STICK AROUND NOW AND GET AN INTRODUCTION TO TOOTS- IT LOOKS LIKE I'VE FALLEN IN LOVE WITH A PHOTO
YES, OF ALL THE GIRLS I'VE KNOWN, SHE'S THE ONLY ONE I WISH I COULD MARRY--THE ONLY REASON I DIDN'T FIRE CASPER WITH THE OTHERS, IS BECAUSE I WANT TO MEET HER. BUT WHAT HE DON'T KNOW WON'T HURT HIM
JIMMY MURPHY
HELLO, CASPER!
COME RIGHT IN, TOOTS- I'M JUST FINISHING UP FOR THE DAY
CASPER, WILL YOU LOOK OVER THESE ORDERS. OH, I BEG YOUR PARDON.
HELLO, BOSS-- I WANT YOU TO MEET MY WIFE! TOOTS, THIS IS MY NEW BOSS, KARLO SHARPP!
HOW DO YOU DO?
Copr 1941 King Features Syndicate, Inc., World rights reserved
SHE'S EVEN PRETTIER THAN HER PHOTO, AND SWEETER THAN SWEET-- WHY IS IT THAT WHEN AT LAST, I RUN ACROSS A GIRL I'D LIKE TO MARRY SHE'S ALREADY MARRIED? WELL, MAYBE I CAN THINK UP A WAY TO GET RID OF CASPER.
I'LL BE READY IN A JIFFY, TOOTS! SAY, HE MADE A BIG FUSS OVER YOU! BUT I'M WISE! HE WANTS TO GET IN GOOD WITH ME.
I DIDN'T LIKE HIM--- WHEN WE SHOOK HANDS I THOUGHT HE'D NEVER LET GO-- I DON'T TRUST HIM, BUT WHY SAY ANYTHING I'LL PROBABLY NEVER MEET HIM AGAIN.
JIMMY MURPHY
TOOTS, IT WAS NICE OF MY NEW BOSS, KARLO SHARPP, TO TAKE US TO DINNER TONIGHT. BUT I WISH WE COULD HAVE GONE SOME PLACE AND JUST TALKED
HE NEARLY WORE ME OUT DANCING, CASPER
Copr 1941 King Features Syndicate Inc World rights reserved
SURE, HE PAID A LOT OF ATTENTION TO YOU, HONEY, THINKING IT WOULD PLEASE ME! HE COULDN'T GET ALONG WITHOUT ME AND MAYBE HE'S AFRAID I MIGHT QUIT MY JOB ONE OF THESE DAYS
I'M AFRAID CASPER HAS A FALSE FRIEND--- IT WOULDN'T TAKE MUCH ENCOURAGEMENT FOR HIS BOSS TO TRY TO GET FRESH--- BUT I WON'T TELL CASPER -- HE'D BLOW UP AND SAY SOMETHING THAT WOULD COST HIM HIS JOB.
I DON'T LIKE HIS BOSS! HE'S SO DISSIPATED AND CONCEITED! THE THING TO DO, IS TO SEE HIM AS LITTLE AS POSSIBLE--- AND I'M QUITE CAPABLE OF TAKING CARE OF MYSELF.

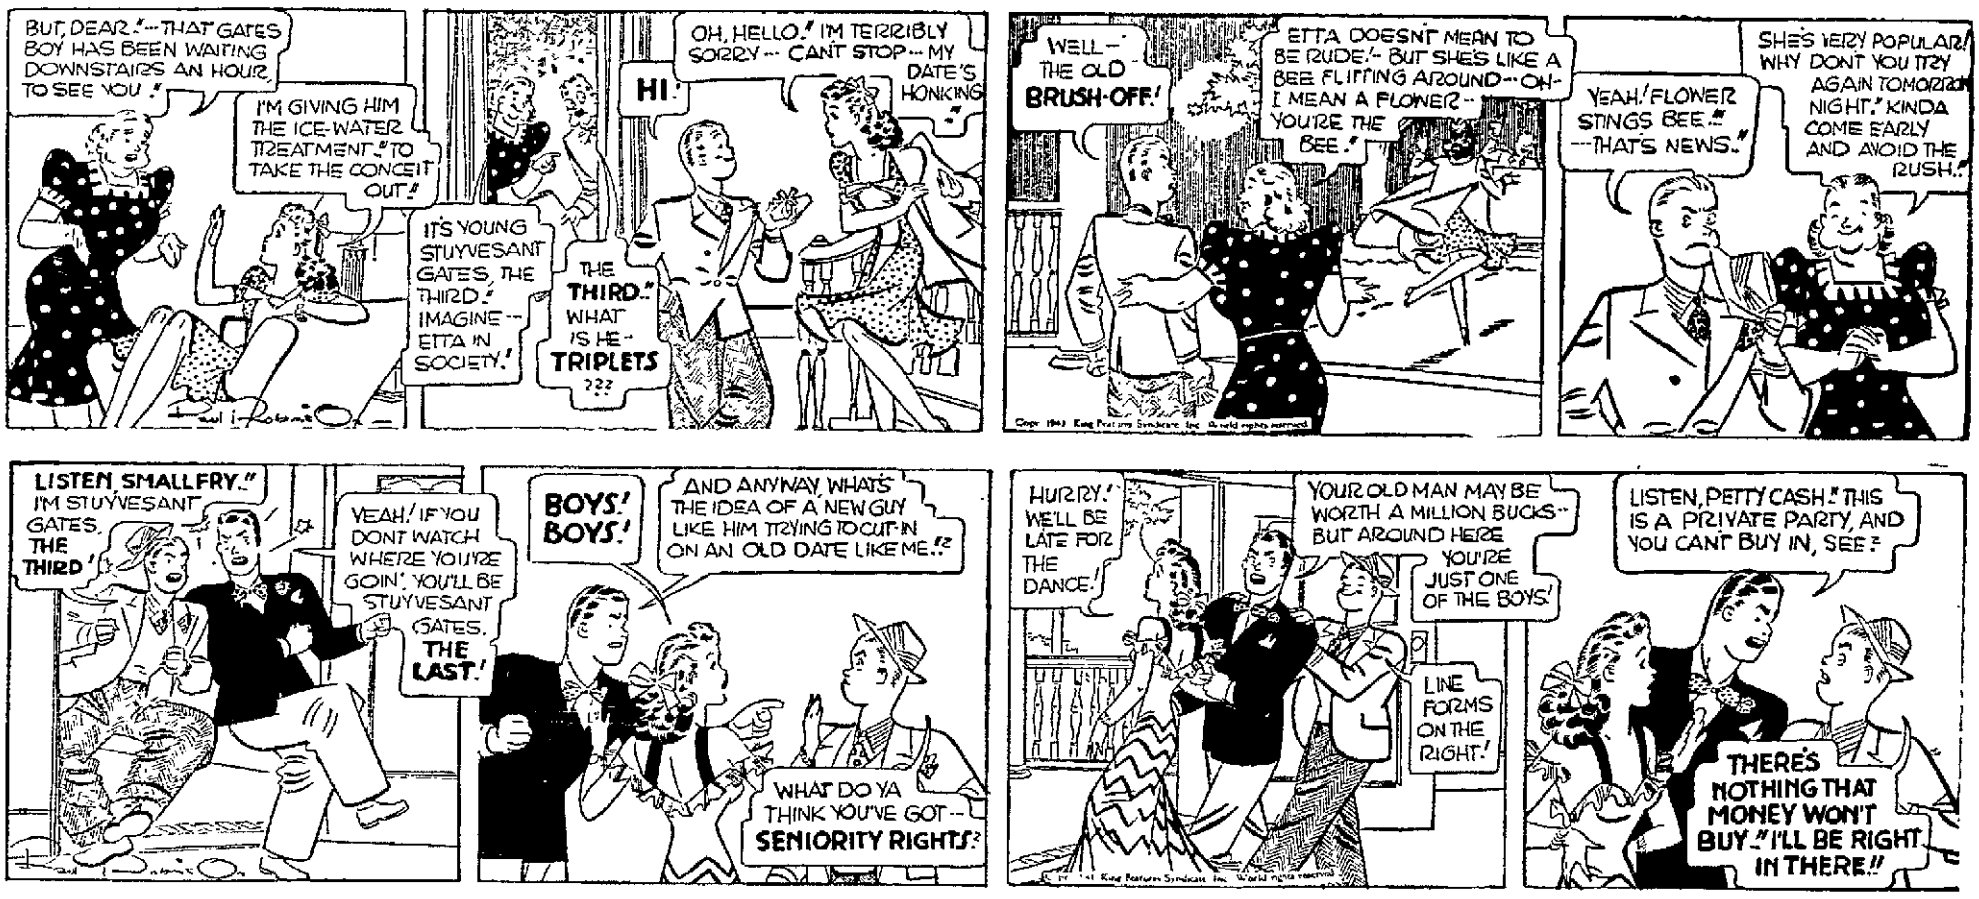
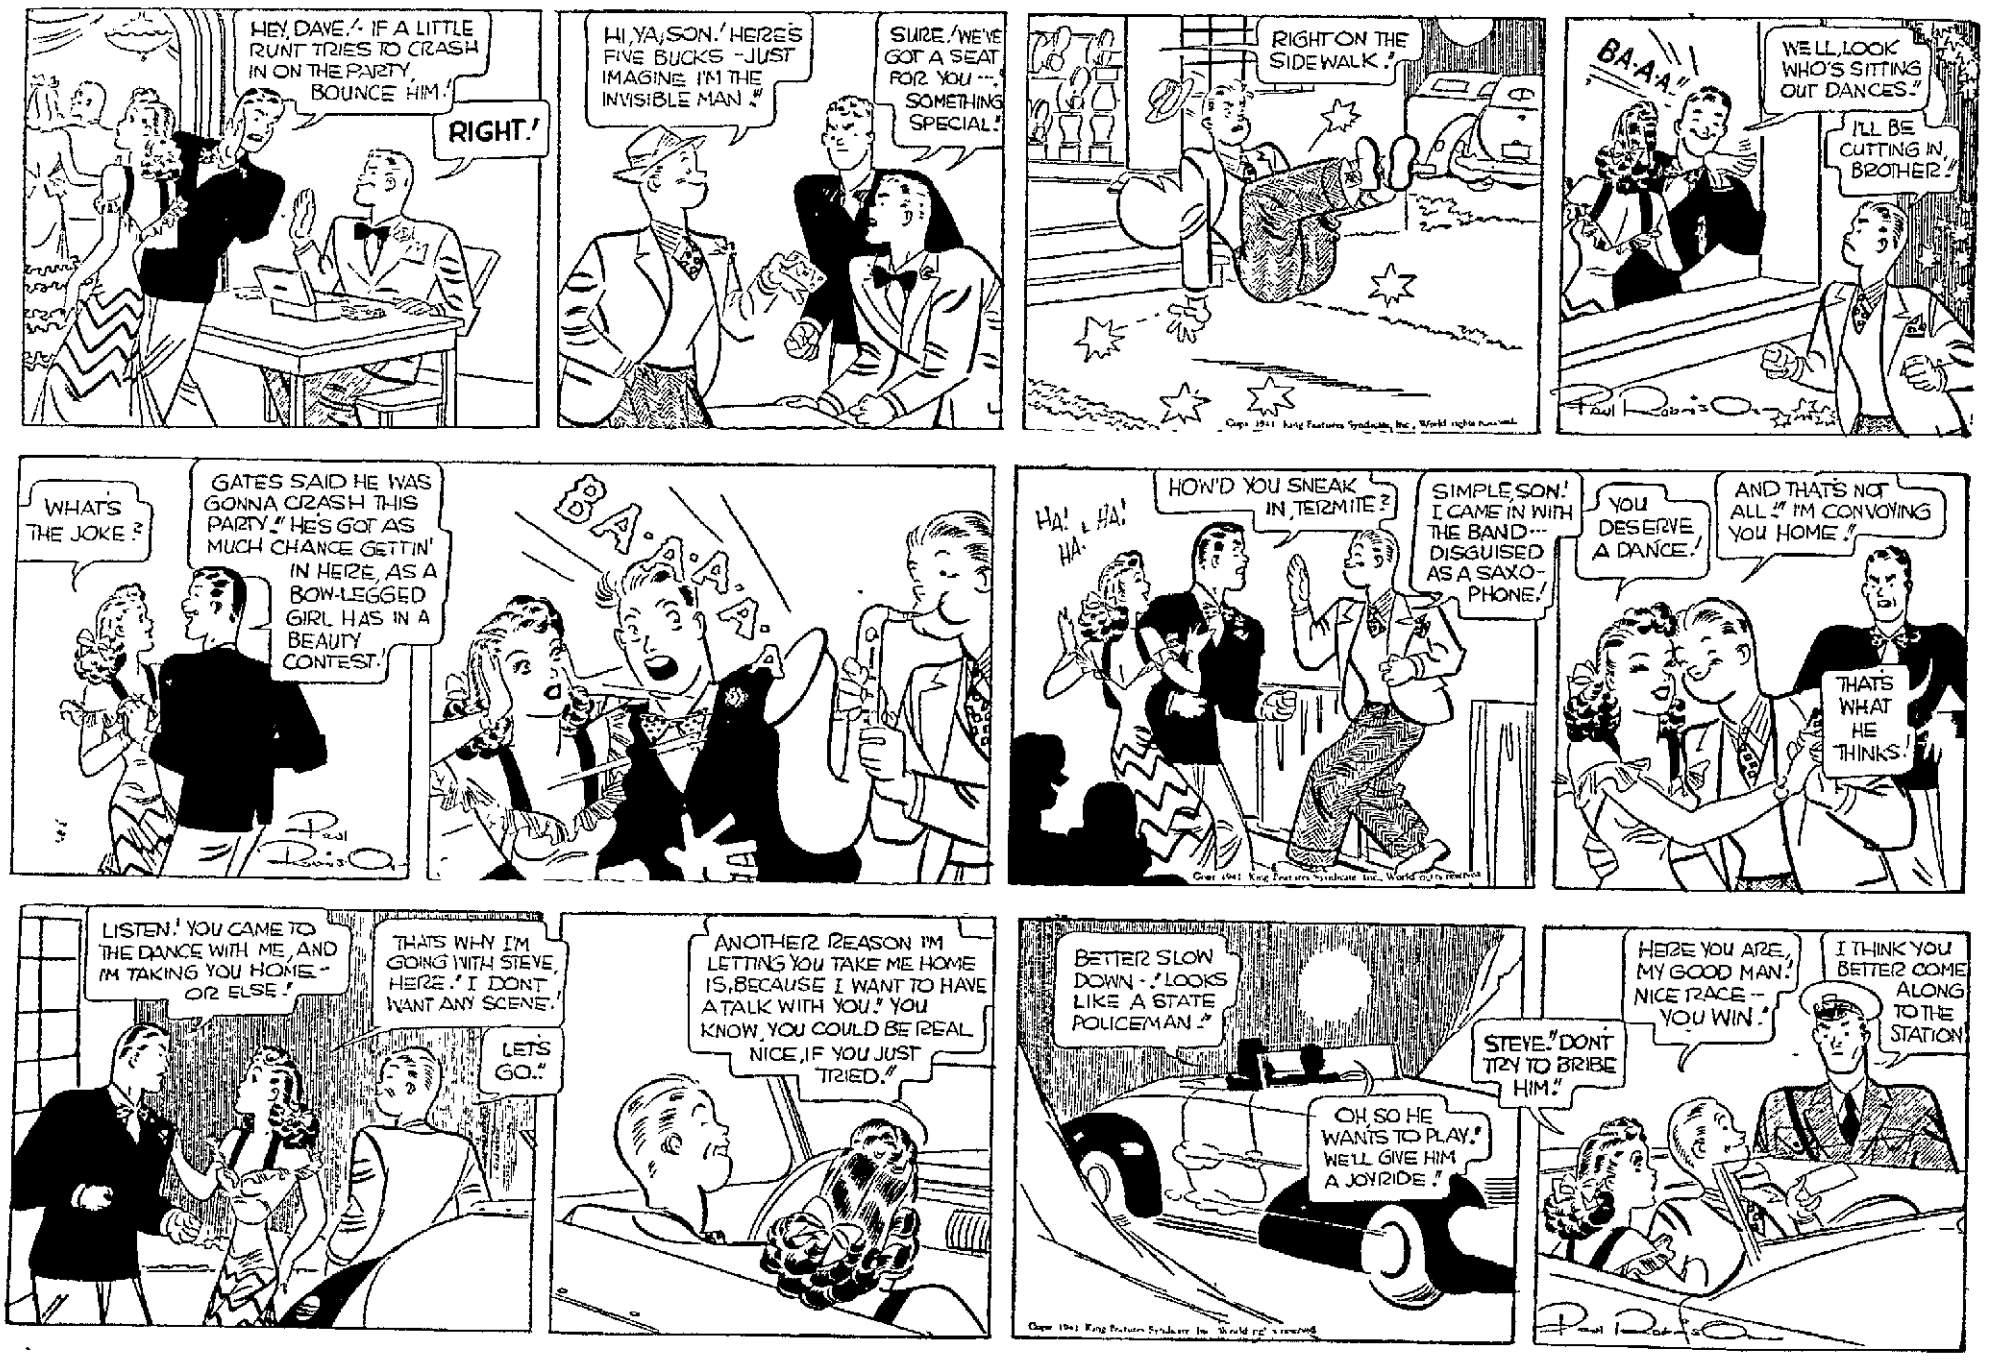
ETTA KETT



BUT, DEAR!--THAT GATES BOY HAS BEEN WAITING DOWNSTAIRS AN HOUR, TO SEE YOU!
I'M GIVING HIM THE ICE-WATER TREATMENT--TO TAKE THE CONCEIT OUT!
IT'S YOUNG STUYVESANT GATES, THE THIRD! IMAGINE--ETTA IN SOCIETY!
THE THIRD.. WHAT IS HE--TRIPLETS ???
OH, HELLO! I'M TERRIBLY SORRY--CAN'T STOP--MY DATE'S HONKING
HI!
WELL--THE OLD BRUSH-OFF!
ETTA DOESN'T MEAN TO BE RUDE!--BUT SHE'S LIKE A BEE FLITTING AROUND--OH--I MEAN A FLOWER--YOU'RE THE BEE!
YEAH! FLOWER STINGS BEE!.. --THAT'S NEWS..
SHE'S VERY POPULAR! WHY DON'T YOU TRY AGAIN TOMORROW NIGHT.. KINDA COME EARLY AND AVOID THE RUSH..
LISTEN, SMALLFRY.. I'M STUYVESANT GATES, THE THIRD!
YEAH! IF YOU DON'T WATCH WHERE YOU'RE GOIN', YOU'LL BE STUYVESANT GATES, THE LAST!
BOYS! BOYS!
AND ANYWAY, WHAT'S THE IDEA OF A NEW GUY LIKE HIM TRYING TO CUT IN ON AN OLD DATE LIKE ME!?
WHAT DO YA THINK YOU'VE GOT--SENIORITY RIGHTS?
HURRY! WE'LL BE LATE FOR THE DANCE!
YOUR OLD MAN MAY BE WORTH A MILLION BUCKS--BUT AROUND HERE YOU'RE JUST ONE OF THE BOYS!
LINE FORMS ON THE RIGHT!
LISTEN, PETTY CASH.. THIS IS A PRIVATE PARTY, AND YOU CAN'T BUY IN, SEE?
THERE'S NOTHING THAT MONEY WON'T BUY.. I'LL BE RIGHT IN THERE!!



HEY, DAVE!--IF A LITTLE RUNT TRIES TO CRASH IN ON THE PARTY, BOUNCE HIM!
RIGHT!
HI, YA, SON! HERE'S FIVE BUCKS--JUST IMAGINE I'M THE INVISIBLE MAN!
SURE! WE'VE GOT A SEAT FOR YOU--SOMETHING SPECIAL!
RIGHT ON THE SIDEWALK!
BA-A-A!..
WELL, LOOK WHO'S SITTING OUT DANCES!
I'LL BE CUTTING IN, BROTHER!
WHAT'S THE JOKE?
GATES SAID HE WAS GONNA CRASH THIS PARTY! HE'S GOT AS MUCH CHANCE GETTIN' IN HERE, AS A BOW-LEGGED GIRL HAS IN A BEAUTY CONTEST.
BA-A-A-A-A
HA! HA! HA!
HOW'D YOU SNEAK IN, TERMITE?
SIMPLE, SON! I CAME IN WITH THE BAND--DISGUISED AS A SAXO-PHONE!
YOU DESERVE A DANCE!
AND THAT'S NOT ALL!" I'M CONVOYING YOU HOME!
THAT'S WHAT HE THINKS!
LISTEN! YOU CAME TO THE DANCE WITH ME, AND I'M TAKING YOU HOME--OR ELSE!
THAT'S WHY I'M GOING WITH STEVE, HERE! I DON'T WANT ANY SCENE!
LET'S GO..
ANOTHER REASON I'M LETTING YOU TAKE ME HOME IS, BECAUSE I WANT TO HAVE A TALK WITH YOU! YOU KNOW, YOU COULD BE REAL NICE, IF YOU JUST TRIED.
BETTER SLOW DOWN--! LOOKS LIKE A STATE POLICEMAN!
STEVE.. DON'T TRY TO BRIBE HIM!
OH, SO HE WANTS TO PLAY! WE'LL GIVE HIM A JOYRIDE!
HERE YOU ARE, MY GOOD MAN! NICE RACE--YOU WIN!
I THINK YOU BETTER COME ALONG TO THE STATION
I PAID MY SON'S FINE! IT WAS FOOLISH OF HIM TO TRY TO BRIBE THAT OFFICER!
STEVE'S A GOOD SOCK AT HEART--REALLY! BUT HE'S SPOILED--IF YOU'LL PARDON MY SAYING SO, MR. GATES!
BY ALL MEANS, BE FRANK!
HE THINKS THERE'S NOTHING IN LIFE THAT MONEY WON'T GET! WHEN HE GETS IN A JAM,--HE TRIES TO BUY HIS WAY OUT
HMM! WHAT WOULD YOU SUGGEST?
CUT HIM DOWN TO A DOLLAR A WEEK SPENDING MONEY! MOST OF THE BOYS I KNOW, WORK--THE OTHERS HAVE A SMALL ALLOWANCE!
I'LL DO IT!
FINE!--HE'LL FIND MONEY ISN'T EVERY-THING IN LIFE! AND HE'LL HAVE FUN LEARNING!
